the Kellys left their home on Brookplace Ct. for the sunny recesses of Fort Lauderdale.

They had intended to go deep sea fishing, but it was too cold. They wanted to swim, but it was too cold. All wasn't lost though. They took a sightseeing and some shopping.

Among the highlights of their excursions was their visit to the Jules Verne Room at the Marlin Beach Hotel. Karen said she had the most delicious dinner she's ever had—sirloin tip steak.

AMONG THE novelties there was a tank full of mermaids.

After dinner they joined friends and on to the Mai Kai. Here they marveled at the replica of a Polynesian Village—thatched huts, gorgeous gardens and fire-spewing volcanoes.

Florida is well known for its delicious oranges. The Kellys succeeded to two unique drinks—one was called the Mystery Drink and the other "Pine of Passion"—a mixture of rum and pineapple juice served in a pineapple. (ugh.)

THEY SPENT two days in St. Louis, Missouri, with Jim's mother, Mrs. Margaret Kelly, who had come through. Gas Light Square, a section of town loaded with antique shops. They also spent time in Columbia where Karen attended Stevens College. While there they also visited Jim's sister, Mrs. Rex Sulser and her family. They're back home now and rested and waiting to go.

George Kalle flew to Pennsylvania this weekend to visit his mother before she enters the hospital for a check-up. We all hope she is in fine health.

OUR SINCEREST sympathies go to John Barb in the death of his father last Tuesday night.

The most recent addition to the sub has been the fence put up around the creek.

Get well soon, daughter Debbie, and Gary Knopf who have had the flu bug.
