Wally Roberts UP 'CURTAIN GOING'

Sixty-six swirls, sails, and slides into the comedy ever so silently. The year 1965 contained many pleasant memories. Old Wally would like to turn the pages back and glance at a few of the noteworthy professional and local community theater productions of '65.

Before we drift back into '66, let's welcome the new star in the wings who took over the Observer reins on December 21—Philip Poirer, our forward-looking publisher. Phil has a lot to tell us about the Observer and we know he's the type of producer-director that will provide only the best journalistic future for Observer readers.

Locally, the musical comedy scene had more than its share of excellent productions. The Livonia High School Theater plant just presented a talent-laden production of "Stop, the World—I Want to Get Off." Myra, a Livonia High School student, was the star of the production. Her aural, eger approach to covering "Guys and Dolls," prior to its opening won my heart-felt praise.

Never have I seen a local show get so much "ink" and good press. Hats off to you, Lois, who on my side some day when I am producing a play. Incidentally, Lois did a tremendous acting job in the musical comedy in local circles, let me award the Publicity Trophy of the year to Mrs. Lois Shearer of the Wayne High School. Her aural, eger approach to covering "Guys and Dolls," prior to its opening won my heart-felt praise.

OLIVIER

Film Version of 'Othello' Is Coming

Sir Laurence Olivier stars in the title role of the Shakespearean tragedy "Othello" coming to the Livonia Cinema Theatre Feb. 2 and 3.

Twice daily showings are scheduled for the technicolor panavision film of the stage production of the National Theatre of Great Britain. Co-stars are Maggie Smith, Frank Filday and Joyce Redman. The matinees will begin at 2 p.m. and the evening show at 8:15 p.m. There will be no reserved seats. Tickets will be on sale at the Cinema box office beginning Jan. 18.

Classic Theatre Opens Season with Comedies

"William Shakespeare's last masterpiece, 'The Tempest,' will open the third season of Wayne State University's 11th Berry Classic Theatre at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 12. A second play, Oliver Goldsmith's 'She Stoops to Conquer,' will join the repertory the following night, Thursday, at 8:30.

The two comedies inaugurate an expanded six-month repertory program which will run weekly through June 11 with the exception of the week of March 27 when the theatre will be closed for a week.

"The Tempest" will also be performed at a 2:30 Saturday matinee of the first week while Goldsmith comedy will continue on Friday and Saturday nights.

A third play, Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" will open Wednesday, Jan. 19. All plays are acted by a company of advanced theatre students selected in national competition to receive fellowships to study and perform at Wayne State University.

Since its first performance in 1811, "The Tempest" has enjoyed undiminished popularity. A spectacle of romance, conflict and comedy, the play combines a wide range of characters and contains some of Shakespeare's most magnificent poetry. Leading roles in the Hilberry production, directed by Leonard Leone, will be played by K. Lyle O'Hell (Prospero), Marilyn Fretwell (Miranda), Robert Oram (Alonso) and Will Love (Ferdinand) and Albert Sanders (Ariel).

Unusual Exhibition Slated for January

The Bloomfield Art Association proudly presents a most unique exhibition of Stitchery, Lace, and Loom... a collection of works by American and European artists using as their instruments of expression the needle, the bobbin, and the loom. This exhibition opens Jan. 9, through Feb. 6, and will be on view at the Bloomfield Art Association, 1516 S. Cranbrook Rd., Birmingham.

Art forms steeped in centuries of tradition capture refreshing contemporary designs. Textures can be seen that will astound and impress the viewer with a vitality of creative impact never imagined possible from these media.

Networks of delicate lace fantasies, woven mazes of mystical myriads, and complex needlework designs surpass the a w a n t e g a r d e of other art forms in sophisticated contemporary creativity.

This exhibition was conceived, compiled, and expedited through the combined efforts of Eileen Weaver, internationally known "weaver par excellence" and the exhibition committee of the Bloomfield Art Association. Because of its magnitude from a geographical standpoint, and the diversity of techniques, and the integrity of the artists, it becomes a most exciting and comprehensive exhibition. Among the many exhibitors represented are award winners throughout this country and abroad, with many represented on permanent display at leading galleries and museums throughout the world.

No successful selfmade man ever left out the working parts.
