JOYCE FLAMP, first tenant of Brookfield Apartments displays some of the attractive features of her new home. A built-in stove and king size refrigerator in copertone color are separated by a good sized work table with drawer and cupboard space beneath.

Apartment Living Can Be Beautiful

If there is anything a house offers that can't be found in the new Brookfield Apartments at 32651 Five Mile Rd., Livonia, it would be hard to detect. Private patio, king size built-in G. E. appliances, refrigerator and freezer, air-conditioning, glassed-in showers, mirrored vanities, all the elements of luxury living are on hand.

In addition, Brookfield offers two new advantages for apartment dwellers. First, their two-bedroom units are two stories, which eliminates having any noisy tenants over you. Secondly there is space for all guests and visitors in the parking lot. Anyone who has ever visited, and had to go out in the cold and move their car to a spot far removed from the apartment knows what that means.

Draperies are furnished also. The air conditioning is attached to the furnace so that all the unsightly apparatus is not sticking out at all angles to the wall. The patios are especially attractive. On one side is a space for trees and a flower garden, the other part of the patio is walled in by brick and would be an ideal spot for an umbrella table, and the wall affords privacy.

A full basement is included with each apartment. The one-bedroom apartments are identical in all detail except that they are on one floor.

Brookfield's first tenant moved in New Year's Eve. Joyce Flamp, a teacher at the Larkshire School celebrated the New Year in her brand new home. Sharing the apartment with her is Patricia Brown who is also a teacher at the Larkshire School.

Joyce gave her reason for selecting Brookfield as, "I loved the feeling of spaciousness. There is no noise from other tenants or apartments and the walls are soundproof." Brookfield Apartments are built by Albert Nelson, the only apartment builder in Michigan to receive a first honor award in nationwide competition for apartment building.

Sales for Brookfield units are handled by J. L. Hudson Realty Co.
