Dewline

By JOHN DEW

The census department has just released figures that show the 92.4 percent of all households in the United States have a TV set. That perhaps explains the immense pressures and monies being poured into the media by networks and advertisers.

The competition has become so acute that word leaked out last week that Johnny Carson of NBC's "Tonight" show of success has put the pressure on guest artists to avoid doing a stint on the "Merv Griffin" TV show if they want to stay in the good graces of Carson.

Griffin's night-timer is a syndicated vehicle of the Group W or Westinghouse chain and is carried in some areas in direct competition with the "Tonight" show. The whole thing is somewhat comparable to General Motors putting pressure on suppliers to avoid Studebaker.

Stand by for the annual deluge of paper publicity regarding the upcoming academy awards. This year more than in any the past it will be a very unpredictable race for most of the bouquets. It seems that there was no "knock-out" production to come out of the celluloid centers to rival the "Sound of Music," "My Fair Lady" or "Mary Poppins" successes of previous years.

The talk of the TV industry continues to be the overnight smash success of the "Batman" video vehicle. The tongue-in-cheek approach has captured not only the little lookers but also become a fad with college students and the "hip" adult set.

CLIFF hosted a very successful March of Dimes Dance last Saturday. Among the talent in town for the affair: The Shagbats, Martha and the Vandellas, Lloyd Price, Mary Wells, and Billy Jo Royal.

Incidentally, Dave Prince tells us that his special guests on "Club 1270" this Saturday at

Nankin Mills Curtain Goes Up Feb. 1 in Wayne

Tom Kijorki of Merritt Drive, Nankin Township, stars in the upcoming Nankin Mills production of "Bewitched, Bothered and Bewildered" Feb. 11 and 12.

Performances are scheduled at the John Glenn High School Auditorium.

The play is the basis for the current TV situation comedy "Bewitched."

Other characters in the play are: Alma Thompson, portrayed by Sammie St. Charles of Detroit and Alma's Aunt Nina from Salem, Mass. Appearing in this role is Peg Knowles also of Merritt Drive.

In the play David is bothered because his wife professes to be a witch and unfortunately challenges her to prove it. He becomes bewildered as she takes faith with an old broom which has been in the family for generations.

Bedside himself, David calls on Aunt Nina for assistance. She decides Alma is too far gone and resorts to exorcism with the help of David's boss, Frank Capwell, played by Paul Clark of Joy Rd. and his wife Grace, who in real life is Dorothy Shanklin of Livonia.

The reactions of nosy Mrs. Finnegan, their neighbor, played by Ann Irwin of Terri Drive, Livonia, the bedlam of the broom and that which it has caused the neighborhood, and the situations that arise, all help to make the story line.

Also in the cast are Carol Whalen of Hillcrest Blvd., Karen Isch of Plymouth, Kent Daniels of Belleville and Kent Eberle of Livonia.
