Grade School Band Prepares for Concert

Grade school boys and girls in the Redford Union north end honor band meet every Wednesday under the leadership of their conductor, John R. Avolio.
The children are fifth and sixth graders who have been studying instruments since the summer before their fifth grade in school. Fifth graders have been learning to play instruments for eight months; sixth graders for 20.
The North End Band will make its first appearance for Keeler Mothers' Club on Wednesday, March 2. It will also perform for Stuckey Mothers' Club and Volney Smith P.T.A.
The band will give an afternoon concert for the students in each of the three participating schools and also will play in a spring concert.
Redford Union's elementary instrumental program begins at the end of the fourth grade, when all students are eligible to begin gong flute, a pre-band instrument. Boys and girls who show aptitude in this program are recommended to begin study during the summer on band instruments.
Instrumental instruction is continued in small classes during the school year, and each school has a band. A total of 123 students is in the band programs at Keeler, Stuckey and Volney Smith Schools. Those who show extra talent are selected to play in the honor band.
In a similar program, pupils from Bulman, Roosevelt, Westland and MacGowan Schools play in the Redford Union youth and honor band under Dorothy Meadows and Dave Kelton.
