And Still They Come-Plan Ninth Jr. High

Three sites in northwest Livonia are being considered for the location of the Livonia School District's ninth junior high school and the school board has given tentative approval to a square design for the building.

The three areas are located in:

- Section Five, east of Newburgh Road and north of Seven Mile Road.
- Section Eight, fronting on Newburgh on the east side, between Six and Seven Mile Roads, and Section Nine, adjacent to Adlai Stevenson.

Currently under construction are two other junior high schools: Holmes School and Nankin No. 6.

Supt. Benton Yates indicated he thought a total of 11 junior high schools would meet the needs of the district in the years ahead.

"We will have to locate one ultimately in the southwest area," he said.

Objections to the location at the Stevenson site centered around the possibility of traffic congestion and lack of adequate playground space.

Assistant Supt. Ron Upton stressed this point, noting that Marshall Elementary School, also next to Stevenson, has 800 pupils and the high school would eventually house 2,200.

A schematic design, prepared by Ralls-Hamill-Becker, architects, was presented by members of the firm.

It was based on recommendations prepared by the school administrators.

Erwin Brown, former trustee who had just been appointed to the board, raised questions about duct work which will be necessary in the proposed building, for which a $1,950,000 budget has been set.

The proposed square plan, while cutting down on outside wall area, creates a ventilating problem because the design calls for some inside rooms which will have no windows.

An innovation, as presently contemplated, would be a room in the center of a cluster of classrooms which would be called an "instructional commons."

Some people have as much trouble adopting a budget as others have in keeping one.

ROBERT H. CAIN, Livonia industrialist, was presented with a citation for his services as a school board trustee at the Parent-Teacher Founders Day dinner, by Board president, Stella Schreiber. The resolution, presented for his contributions to education during the five years he served the Livonia school district, stressed that he had brought to the board, "Tremendous personal energy and enthusiasm for the welfare of our school district, knowledge and business experience from his background in sales and manufacturing in the machinery industry and knowledge of accounting, budgeting procedures and other skills in the areas of finance and employee relationships."

ELECT
JAMES R. McCANN
MUNICIPAL JUDGE

- Your City Councilman for the last eight years.
- Practicing Attorney in Livonia—10 years.
- Educator—15 years experience working with teen-age youth

• Jim will bring an exceptional background to the office of Municipal Judge. As an eight-year veteran of the City Council, he helped write many of the ordinances the Judge must interpret. As an educator, Jim has worked with and is keenly aware of the problems of teen-age youth.

• Jim advocates the establishment of a Community Youth Probation Program patterned after the nationally acclaimed Royal Oak Program.

• Pledge—Jim will denounce the practice of Municipal Judges and Justices of the Peace practicing law before each other and pledges never to do this.

DALE WELLING:
38 years old, eight children, seven-year resident. Has his own business in Livonia. Wants to be on council because he just feels he wants to be on it.

AL YOUNG:
The "weed man." I'm going to read what I have to say and get it over with. President of this civic association. Believes in the American form of government. He wanted the weed ordinance.

Builders and developers should be made to complete their commitments on time. Need sidewalks all over. I'm not a politician. Wants to be full time councilman.

League Of Women Voters

Sponsor Candlelight Eve

Livonia League of Women Voters will sponsor a "Meet Your Candidates" night at Nankin High School gym on Friday, Feb. 18, at 8 p.m.

Candidates for mayor, municipal judge, city council and the charter commission have been invited to take part in the meeting which is open to the public.

Mrs. Myron Singer, President of the League, will introduce the candidates and Mrs. John Federspel, Voters Service Chairman, will moderate the program. Candidates for mayor, city council and judge will answer a question prepared by the LWV.

The candidates for mayor are Harvey W. Moelke, Victor D. Beale, Paul F. Hower and Lonnie Brashear. They will answer the question, "What in your opinion is Livonia's greatest problem and how would you solve it?"

The candidates for city council are Edward G. Milligan, George L. Kindred, Rudolf R. Kleimert, Dale W. Welling, Alfred D. Young, John T. MacDonald, Roger A. Quigley, Robert Nash, Donald E. Husted, Jack Salvador, Donald C. Pollock, Donald R. Barrett, Thomas D. Heap, Peter A. Ventura and John G. Hubert. They will be queried on, "How do you interpret the responsibilities of a member of the Livonia City Council?"

"What particular training or experience have you had that would qualify you for the office of Municipal Judge?" will be answered by these candidates. Steve Polgar, James R. McCann, Robert H. Lorion, Paul N. Doner and Patrick Durcan.

Following each group there will be a question and answer period.

The candidates for constable, treasurer and city clerk have been invited and will be introduced even though there is no contest for these offices in the primary election.

FOR JIMMY (Jeanette Katz), friends are sponsoring a luncheon to promote her candidacy for Charter Commissioner at Livonia Knights Inn Feb. 10 at 12:45. For tickets call (1-1) Phyllis Murch, 476-2257; Marguerite Kowalski, 425-1519; Faith Gillespie, GA 7-2521 or Candidate Jeanette Katz.
