

TALKING ABOUT THURSTON

'H.M.S. Pinafore' Readied For May 11

By LYNN BARNETT
"H.M.S. Pinafore" will be presented by Thurston students May 11 through 14 at 8 p.m. in Thurston's little auditorium. The musical, a love story with a different twist, is directed by William Roth who teaches speech and drama. The five main characters are played by: Marc Goodson, senior, as Ralph Backstrom; Rod O'Neil, sophomore, as Sir Joseph; Andrea Sletten, senior, as Josephine; Tim Werdel, junior, plays Captain Corcoran; and Pat Snover, senior, plays Buttercup. The Future Nurses Club had a speaker April 23. The lecture was given on anesthesia and a film strip accompanied her talk. Cheerleading tryouts for all tenth and eleventh grade students started April 25 in the large gym. A tea was given for all student teachers and their supervising teachers by the Future Teachers Club in the home-making room April 27. Auditions for Varsity Chorus

English Five Authors Rush To Meet Deadline

By Madge Hildebrandt
In a last-minute flurry of typing and re-organization, English V students at Farmington Senior High are attempting to complete their Major Projects. The assignment, due May 4, is an annual one and requires a great deal of creative writing. This year's seniors are preparing either a collection of short stories, poetry, essays, a novel, or a play. Approximately 30 poems are required in a poetry collection. Comie Aldrich, Madge Hildebrandt, Sue Jones, Paula Norman, Eric Sauter, and Susan Thorpe are dealing with the Muse. Eric Sauter is one of the few who has chosen a title for his brain child; it is "Smoked Glass and Other Poems." The short story classification has three writers, Sherry Dorow, Ken Rogerson, and Diane Sheridan. Sherry describes the subject matter of her project as "the underlying pressures in modern society and how people cope with them." Novellists are being written: By Joan McGregor, Ron Lee, and Kathy Schacht. The largest number of students is doing essays. They

CLARENCEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL Teachers' Prowess Bests Seniors

By TONY HEAD
The Clarenceville Seniors planned to roll over the teachers in the annual Senior-Faculty basketball game. Unfortunately the teachers had other ideas. Both the men and women teachers defeated the seniors. The games were sponsored by Clarenceville's Varsity Club. The Pep Club, sponsored by Miss Evelyn Cohn, held a party for all varsity and junior varsity sports and band members. There was dancing and refreshments. The annual spring musical "Oklahoma" under the direction of Steve Vujec will be presented May 25, 26 and 27. Tickets are now on sale for $1 and can be ordered from High School students or through the school office. Students are still needed for props, makeup and lighting crew. Here are the statistics on the State Band Festival. The Clarenceville High Band, under the direction of John Neuber, finished with the highest possible score, all ones. The band was judged on appearance, ability to sight read and to play the Elmira Concert March, the English Folk Song Suite and the American Folk Rhapsody. A date to mark the calendar is May 18, when the band will present an evening concert. Wayne State University gave great Charlie Primas his 20-point mark 32 times in his takes.
