Clarenceville Bands Win Top Honors

Both Clarenceville's high school and junior high school bands walked away with first division ratings at the state level to bring back fame and glory to the local school district, located in the northeast corner of Livonia.

The high school band, under the direction of John Nettek, participated in the annual State Band and Orchestra Festival in Clio on April 23, marking the band's first participation in the state event.

The Band, and all other competing bands, was evaluated by a battery of four judges.

The Clarenceville band had the distinction of having received first division ratings from all four judges in both the district and state level.

The Junior High Band, under the direction of Theodore Malires, also scored an important first for their school as they became the first band in the history of Clarenceville Junior High School to win a first division (superior) rating in state level competition.

Boostered by the addition of a selected sixth grader, the group participated in the annual State Band and Orchestra Festival on April 19 in Treston.
