Farmingtonites Vacation In Hawaiian Islands

Two Farmington families recently enjoyed a fabulous vacation. Lucille and Janet Vranesh and Ada and Sharon Woodward spent two weeks in Hawaii.

They were met at the Honolulu airport by the official greeter of the Reef Hotel of Waikiki Beach with orchid leis.

The following day they attended the King Kamehameha parade which is a state holiday. Among the viewers were Mrs. John F. Kennedy and children. Several days later, Janet and Sharon shopped at the Ala Moana Shopping Center, the largest in the world.

The first tour was of the island which took in the pineapple fields and the burning of the sugar cane. Then all went on a boat tour of Pearl Harbor and saw the N.S.S. Arizona Memorial.

On their sight-seeing trip of Diamond Head they took pictures of many beautiful bays.

They dined at the LaRonde which is the first revolving restaurant in America and the tallest building in Hawaii, and the Top of the Mt. Kilauea which is also famous due to its glass elevator which looks out at the Waikiki Yacht Club.

Among the latest 4-H programs giving awards based on accomplishment are horse, home management, photography, dog care and community beautification.
