AFS Philosophy Told in Song to Host Families

Livonia host families gathered together last Monday night at Bryant Junior High School for a picnic with their American Field Service guests. Following the picnic part of the evening the AFS students held a Hootenanny to entertain their Livonia host families.

A standing ovation was given two girls, Kathryn Bamburst of Belgium and Anne-gret Ableiter of Germany who made up the following song. They sang the song with Walter Frank of Switzerland.

The words of the song the two girls composed are as follows:

One hand can't build a world of peace
Two hands can't build a world of peace
But if two and two
fifty make a million
We see that we'll come 'round.

One hand can't make us understand
Two hands can't make us understand
But if two and two
fifty make a million
We sure will understand

One hand can't make the world to grow
Two hands can't make the world to grow
But if two and two
fifty make a million

fifty walk together
We'll have a world of peace.

And if we all stretch out our hands
Then we shall have a world of friends
For if two and two
fifty live together
We sure shall all be friends.

Walking and talking side by side
Walking and talking side by side
For if two and two
fifty love together
We'll have the world we want.

A Little Girl Hopes To Be Remembered

Little Celeste Beagan, five-year-old daughter of Mrs. Thomas Beagan, 17575 Hillcrest, Livonia, needs your help—and a picture post card will do the job.

She is a patient at Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, Fla., where she is awaiting an operation on

After spending two weeks in Harper she was flown to Miami last Wednesday and is expected to be confined at least three weeks.

Born with a left kidney that failed to function, her right kidney now has shown a weakness. This is the reason for the trip to Miami.

"We are afraid she is going to be so lonesome," her sister, Cherie, sighed over the phone. "And we know that the post cards she has asked for will help a lot."

"Just tell all her friends that she is in Room 589, Jackson Memorial Hospital in Miami, and that she'll be waiting to hear from them."

Little Celeste's mother is with her and the other members of the family are planning to drive to Miami to be with her if an operation is needed.

In the meantime, your picture post card could help a little five-year-old—who needs all the moral support she can get.

labor shortages, tight money, and increased costs of materials," Alford said.

Board vice-president William Craft, chairman of the population and sites committee, expressed some concern that further escalation of the number of homes built and subdivision developments planned could throw off the orderly construction of elementary, junior, and senior high schools.

"At the present time, based on school census and other projections, the Board is building one new elementary and one new secondary school classroom each week," Craft pointed out.

"If this growth in number of homes occupied continues to spur upwards and new families moving in bring with them hundreds of additional school-age children not shown in our census, the Board may have to plan at once for the construction of still additional schools to take care of this exploding population."

Second most rapidly growing mile-square section of the district is that bounded by Five Mile, Newburgh, Six Mile and Wayne Roads, which showed a gain of 193 homes for a 40 per cent increase in one year.

"This accelerated home growth in the past year came to Livonia despite

Tree Stumps Don't Move

John F. Quirk, 23, of 25944 Orchard Lake Rd., Farmington, had an argument with a tree over the weekend and lost. Or more exactly he had an argument with a tree stump standing about three feet high.

According to Farmington Township Police reports, Quirk was traveling west on Nine Mile Rd. at about 6 p.m. July 14 when he slid in the loose gravel just east of Drake Rd. and struck the tree stump.

Two witnesses to the accident—which completely wrecked the car—told police that the car was traveling "very fast" before the accident. Quirk refused medical treatment at the hospital.

But, Officer, How Was I To Know?

Stealing from a policeman may not be the wisest thing in the world to do.

Charged with doing just that—in this case taking a motorcycle illegally—has brought the arrest of Cassimer W. Belcarz, 19, of 17721 Fenton Street, Redford Township.

Owner of the vehicle, said to have been taken without consent, is Livonia Police Sgt. Russell McQuaid.

Belcarz appeared last week before Livonia Municipal Judge James McCann who set his bond at $5,000 and ordered him to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Teens Charged In Car Thefts

Three Livonia youths, charged with stealing cars, have been ordered by Livonia Municipal Judge James McCann to stand trial in Wayne County Circuit Court.

Michael C. Adams, 17, of 29031 Hathaway pleaded guilty last week to unlawfully taking an auto on July 7. Police said he had escaped from the Boys Training School at Whitmore Lake.

William Knipple, 19, of 2010 Farmington Road, and William J. Dixon, 18, of 20307 Shady-side St., stood mute and waived examination on charges of stealing a 1966 model car June 13.

Fails in Attempt To Be Detective

Impersonation of an officer has been denied by Nathaniel H. Elliot, Jr., 22, of 1909 Kentucky St., Dearborn, who has, however, admitted to falsely representing being an employee of a detective agency.

Hellon is awaiting sentencing in Livonia Municipal Court, following his arrest May 12 at a Livonia shopping center where he flashed a badge and identification card at a sales person.

Reckless Driver Pays

Brown S. Roller, 22, of 2109 Gladstone St., Detroit, last week was found guilty of reckless driving and fined $85 plus costs of $15 by Redford Township Justice John M. Dillon.
