This Is Kimberley

VERA R. KERASTAS

A spring rain was appropriate for the spring meeting of the Kimberley Association last Thursday at Beechview school. The 120 members, chairmen and guests were announced and reports made making available to non-members the forthcoming Kimberley directory prepared by the association for a $6 fee which can be applied to a membership. Over 100 members had been ordered from Edition's and signs have been ordered from the Oakland County Road Commission.

The 50th Boy Scout Troop 339 have been out camping again, this time for senior boys over Mother's Day weekend at the beautiful Piney Provincial Park in Ontario, Canada. The dad's, Messrs. BeVier, Deats, Fletcher, Macielak, and Young were present to lead the scouts on Saturday. For their evening constitutional, everyone marched into Grand Bend (the nearest town), a mere 12-mile trot to wonder what time was a treat, even under the stars.

Nine Brownie troops of S.E. Oakland County descended upon the Kenton Park last Saturday, May 14, for an all-day pow-wow. The cooperative weather allowed for games, songs and community dining in typical scout fashion especially with those delicious "some-remore."

According to Jill Emerson, June 3, is the Friday to reserve for couples plans in the bridge and pinchle tournaments.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nicolay are happy to announce the birth of their third child, James Edward. This second son arrived on Saturday, May 14, at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia, weighing 7 pounds, two ounces.

The bowling season has ended. The final frame put an end to the weekly sports adventure, and the computers tallied up the final scores to declare the champions for this year.

"Lofty" was the celebration, spot for 100 guests at the victory dinner of the Kimberley Women's A.M.E. bowling team on Friday, May 13. The lucky evening proclaimed the following winners: The "grand champs" trophies went to: Jo Olson, Carl Moore, Lynn Roth, and Marie Evans. The Champs' trophies went to Jean Martello, Emma Deussen, Marion Olson, and Shirley Stinnett. Carol Keel won the most improved bowler trophy. Jo Olson topped the high series and high place trophies. The last place champs' awards went to Doreen Tooley, Pearl Cowger, Dorothy Vankoughnet, and Kay White.

The Kimberley Friday Nighters convened for their annual banquet at Roma Hall on Friday, May 6, where the centerpieces were cleverly fashioned around bowling pins. With gifts of hankies for men and chifon scarves for the gals and trophies for the champions, there was something for everyone. The first place team winners were Joe and Pat Powder and Joe and Jill Emerson.

Second place went to The Lombardis and the Suttons. Last place awards went to the Ray Dubois and the Kallins. Emily Bowick ran off with all the women's prizes for high series, high game, and high over-average.

Dick Smith won for high over average for men. Wally Kourtjian won the high game. John Bowick won the high series.

Sportsmanship trophy was awarded to Blossom Mathen. The high team game (high score) went to the Hernandezes and to Ron Miller and his fiancée.

EXCITEMENT abounds at the Dick Angelo home on Barwell. Dick, on a winning streak in bowling, will be seen on TV tapes of these bowling competitions. The first will be on tonight at 1 a.m. on WWJ-TV and on Saturday at 1 a.m. Having won these, he will try to "beat the Champ" next Sunday night at 1 a.m., also, for several great prizes such as a 21" color TV, Dick and his fiancée. The he's entering the school board race.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Flakne of Farmington are proud to have their lovely diplomat Hotel in Miami Beach in May for a twoosome of golf, swimming, and races.

The relaxed but balmy tropic atmosphere of Jamaica was a peaceful haven in which Dr. Larkshire, There Bonnie Wright, Joyce Londe, Margie McCarty, Diane Maciak, Pat Rice, Joanne Bankowski and Florence Catenacci played 18 hole cards and at the peak of their evening, grandly presented the very new mother, Bonnie Wright, with a pretty provocative play and a little What else but a terribly tempting nightie. You know!

It's time for the birthday billboard. The best to Mary Lou Cuzzon on May 11, Dale Williamson on the 12th, Dale Pollock on the 13th, Betty Keagan on the 14th, Danny Metcalfe on the 15th, Shawn Hicks on the 16th, Barbara Miller and Beth Frost on the 17th, and Virginia on the 18th.

an English Ford and had a panic driving on the left side with reverse controls. Domestic animals and pedestrians crowd the narrow roads for further confusion. They recommend to anyone the lovely small hotel that excelled in friendliness situated in a dense tropical mountainous area. From banana boats to free-port stores to meeting the Dave Wilmers in Miami, this was a real winning.

WERNER NEIL Burnside was informed that he had Ford business in Europe, he and Jackie decided to include son Tim, 6, and have a real family trip. A few minor mishaps made this a journey the Burnside's won't casually forget. First of all, the plane was eight hours late in leaving Detroit. That should have been a warning to them. At last airborne, they relaxed, flying to London for an intended three day stay.

Happy but exhausted, they settled down in their hotel where Tim, delighted to finally bed-down, took a flying leap to his cot and knocked a chip out of a permanent tooth. The three spent the next morning visiting the Royal Academy of Dentistry.

"Ah, ha now the real trip can start," they thought. That evening Tim had a fever 100 degrees which finally subsided only when he blossomed out in a plush case of measles. The three-day trip to London was thereby extended to a twelve day sojourn during which Neil hopped to Belgium on business. Jackie and Tim did enjoy London, however, especially the planetarium and Madame Tussaud's. From England, The Burnside's flew to friendly Portugal for three days where Tim learned a few native words while sightseeing. Another trip to Europe would be heartily welcomed, but the Burnside's are sure they've seen enough of London for a while.
