Auditorium Theme Gets An "A"
(Editor's Note: Miss Ava Atler received an "A" on the paper published here. Her teacher made the following comment):
"When given the assignment to write a paper on a persuasive theme, Ava Atler, student at North Farmington High handed in the following, which I feel should be read by all residents of Farmington. She clearly states her thinking on a problem faced, not only by the students, but by the faculty of the Farmington schools. I highly endorse her comments."

MANY OF THE departments of the school are assisted by the need for an auditorium. The Art Department does a fantastic job with the scenery, but their work would be much easier with a permanent stage. The band members could do an even finer job if they did not have to concern themselves with folding chairs and being crowded together. The work of choreography in the Physical Education Department could become a much more pleasant task if they could overcome the handicap of a "pieced-together" stage. The singers could be placed in ideal locations so the true quality of their singing voice could be heard.
The residents of Farmington really appreciate the fine arts as is evidenced by the wonderful support given every undertaking of the Farmington Players Group as well as every school production. It seems to me that such enthusiasm should be rewarded by a vote for an auditorium which would allow for much finer performances.
MOST OF THE PARENTS in Farmington spend a great deal of time and money on their children in helping them to develop their talents. Certainly they feel this will contribute to their life for their children. All parents strive to take care
