Ice Cream Fete At Orchard Church

Orchard Methodist Church, Farmington, will be the scene of another young people's project this Saturday, June 11. The Junior High Youth Fellowship group, under the counseling of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Comstock, invite one and all to come to the church and enjoy a fish pond game, music by the Aldermos combo, and rides in an antique car.

Orchard Plans Father, Son Eve

The father and son banquet at Orchard Methodist Church is scheduled for Friday evening, June 11. Ted Daly is the chairman of this delightful men's program, and Ray Hatch has been in charge of ticket sales.

The Methodist Men's annual district breakfast at Loh Valley Park will be held next Sunday, June 12.

"COME ALONG WITH ME, Lucille, in My Merry Oldsmobile" and you'll have a ride to the ice cream social. (Left to right) enjoying both the ice cream and the antique auto are Sandy McCormick, Dave Kampman, Nancy Collins, Edmund Comstock, Betty Nauman, and Mark Kampman.

After a winter of pleasant camaraderie, the play-offs of the "Pinochle Bridge Tournament" took place on Friday, June 3, at the American Legion Hall with thirty-eight couples competing at this pot-luck party. The pinochle play-offs found John and Emily Bowick as first place winners with a $15 cash award and a gift.

Fred and Betty Mageau caught second place with a $10 prize. Third place was won by Charles and Lorraine Wilson and Jerry and Doreen Tooley captured the 45 consolation prize. Other gifts were also awarded for various achievements.

The bridge play-offs found Richard and Roberta Flakne as chairmen collecting a trophy and $30 in cash. Joe and Jill Emerson won $20 for second place while Steve and Jean Martello obtained $10 for third prize. Wallace and Nancy Kourlian got a $5 prize for fourth place, and James and Elaine Taggart got a $5 prize for fifth place. The profits from the 20th place while Fred and Dorothy Sevin got $5 for last place. Other prizes were distributed, and these gifts were donated by Bob Baum. The profits from this group combined with that of the Women's Club, bought the new tables, umbrellas and chairs decorating the pool.

Jill Emerson, the coordinator, was presented a beautiful plant in appreciation for her efforts in putting forth this excellent program.

The Kimberley Association is planning a race track party on Friday, June 24, at the Wolverline Raceway (Middlebelt and Schoolcraft). A $5 per person admission will entitle one to a dinner, a cocktail reception, dinner and a party. Further information will be forthcoming, or call Deb Barsch or Hugh McChesney for detailed information.

CHRISTINE BEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Bey of Westmeath, celebrated her confirmation at the Prince of Peace church on Sunday, May 29, with friends and relatives, convening for a gay affair.

With these basic twelve years of formal study completed, our Kimberley graduates have various plans for their futures.

Thinking of pre-med courses at the University of Michigan in the fall, Raul Adams will brush up on some summer courses at Ann Arbor before the freshman year begins. Raul has been working at Plymouth Hospital to better acquaint himself with all things medical.

Barbara Allen hopes to work at the Sarah Fisher home this summer months before entering Michigan State University in the commercial and fine arts program. Art is her hobby and will be her career, and she is especially fond of pen and ink work. Barbara was fortunate to be at the Sarah Fisher home this summer months before entering Michigan State University in the physical education program. Diane is keen on sports and singing. After a summer job at G.M., baseball and basketball fan, Robert, will matriculate at Northern College in the upper peninsula. Business school and then its application are in store for Terrell.

If the post-office job comes saving, Bonnie Breese will be saving for her schooling at Central Michigan University where this water-skier will major in sociology in hopes of becoming a social worker.

Reading and a part-time job will keep Xanacoma Castaneda busy until the fall term opens at U.M. where she enrolls as a liberal arts student.

Planning to major in pre-law at Central Michigan at Mt. Pleasant, Lindsay Chalmers will be working at Ford's this summer and taking a job with cars when he has a chance.

Following a temporary job at the post office, John Eckhold Jr. expects to enter U.M. in the pre-med program. Sports such as football, hockey, and sailing hold this youth's interests.

ROBERT EDSALL will join the ranks of students at Kalamazoo College in the liberal arts program. The Edsall family is planning to move soon with Robert helping when he's not reading or enjoying model railroading.

Entering Michigan State University this summer, Gail Erickson has fond memories of her singing career in the musical comedy "The King and I," presented by North Farmington High recently.

A musician with his own band, "The Titans," Chuck Evans is also studying with State in the music department where his piano and organ ability will be most useful.

After a few camp-counseling jobs for this summer and a part-time job at Botsford Hospital, Randy Fluit will look forward to a family trip to Victoria B.C. This fall, this piano player hopes to enter Michigan State with a possible pre-med course in the future.

A secretarial school booklet to Cheryl Hedquist is a trip north with hopes of entering the business world in the fall. When time allows, she hopes to golf, piano, and possibly model.

Starting with summer school courses, Robert Kalin, an all-state gymnastic, plans to enter Eastern University on an athletic scholarship with an engineering goal.

With a family move to Canada eminent, Deborah Kane will still find time for a trip north with a few other seniors before matriculating at Michigan State to major in languages.

WORKING THIS SUMMER will shorten the time for Carolyn Kikka until she can go to Barbary Allen hopes to work at the Sarah Fisher home this summer months before entering Michigan State University in the physical education program. Diane is keen on sports and singing. After a summer job at G.M., baseball and basketball fan, Robert, will matriculate at Northern College in the upper peninsula. Business school and then its application are in store for Terrell.

If the post-office job comes saving, Bonnie Breese will be saving for her schooling at Central Michigan University where this water-skier will major in sociology in hopes of becoming a social worker.

East Jr. High To Give Concert

Instrumental and vocal music departments of East Junior High will present a Pop Concert on Thursday, June 9, at 8 p.m. The music presented will be different from that of spring concerts as it is all popular, Broadway, or folk music.

Bye, Bye, Birdie, South Pacific, and other folk and popular songs will be sung by the choir. The Variety Band will entertain the audience with selections from Mary Poppins, Summertime, No Matter What Shape, and the Tijuana Brass hit song - Tijuana Taxi.

No admission will be charged.

A sking and swimming enthusiast, Steven Martello will enter the business world of his Dad's after graduation.

Dava Mathews will attend Michigan State University on a four year scholarship. After a summer of reading and baby sitting tasks, Barbara May hopes to major in English and philosophy at Oakland University in Rochester with a teaching future in mind.

On June 20, Rick McChesney will begin his new formal education at Ferris State College in Big Rapids with an eye to engineering fields. Mechanics and sking are his primary leisure diversions.
