BY JOHN BAILEY
476-7751

Farmington Jaycee's annual junior golf tournament will be held at the Farmington Country Club June 20, Monday. All boys 15 and under on or after September 1, 1966 who are residents of Farmington Township or City are invited to compete in the tournament regardless of their playing ability.

The Jaycees are also sponsoring a golf clinic for all ages who are interested in the All-Star Golf Driving Range on Grand River in Farmington. Tom King, owner of the driving range, will instruct the boys on some of the finer points of the game of golf. The boys will then be given a bucket of golf balls and the opportunity to practice what they have learned. The clinic will take place Friday, June 17, at 3 p.m.

There will be trophies for the first, second, and third place finishers. In addition, these winners, plus the winners of each age bracket will qualify to play in the sectional junior golf tournament. Winners of the sectional will qualify to play in the state junior golf tournament in July at Grand Haven. The Farmington Jaycees will sponsor all local winners as far as they go.

Any boy wishing to play in the junior golf tournament or to participate in the golf clinic should contact Bob Harris, secretary, at 476-7751, or John Bailey, general chairman, 476-7751.

High Schools Get New Coaches

Both high school athletic staffs will be adding new country track coaches next season as Jerry Young comes to Farmington High in that capacity and Neil Cohen takes over at Kent State.

Young is a graduate of MSU, and was a member of the varsity cross-country and track teams there for three years, and captain of both during his senior year. In addition, he was indoor and outdoor Big-Ten champion in the 1500-meter event, a member of the 1959 NCAA and Big-Ten Cross-Country championship team, as well as a member of the College Cross-country All American team in 1959 and 1960.

Since completing college, Young has been track coach at Edgewood High School for one year and is completing his third year of track coaching at Jackson High School.

Cohen is a fourth year letterman in track and cross-country from Kent State University in Kent, Ohio where he received his B.S. degree in 1965. He will receive his M.S. degree from Western Michigan University at this August's commencement.

The Farmington Jaycees opened defense of their divisional softball crown by defeating the South Lyon Jaycees 20-15 last Wednesday at City Park.

The boys from Farmington had to fight from behind to earn victory in the hard-fought game.

One point, Farmington trailed South Lyon 10-3 but they were able to redeem themselves before the game was over.

Farmington home came from Pat Novak, Norv Kennedy, and two from Harv Willy.

South Lyon's defense was led by Alvin Williams, who pitched against Clawson. The game will be played in City Park, in Farmington.

Kendallwood's July 4 Celebration To Honor Sam

The same four factors which were used in judging the contest last year in Kendallwood's Fourth of July Parade will be used again this year, it was announced this week. These factors are: (1) patriotism, connected with American independence, with the judges giving extra credit to those patriotic words on this year's special theme; (2) imagination; (3) effort and (4) marching properly in parade formation.

It was also announced that the first and fourth prizes would be stressed again this year. It is pretty hard, if not impossible, to win a top prize if you don't try to work on this year's special theme, and it is especially difficult to win a higher prize if you work on a patriotic theme which is not connected with American independence.

Those who have done some research on this matter have by now undoubtedly discovered that the name of Samuel Adams is as disjuncted as it might at first appear. The Committees of Correspondence were the invention of Samuel Adams; and in almost all of the acts of the far-reaching events at Boston, Samuel Adams was the instigator or leader.

MRS. DEOREE HAS arranged a section of materials in the Farmington District Library which makes it very easy to learn great deal about this year's special theme of mere half hour. A better appreciation of various contributions to American independence can be gained by reading the material and zest in the fun and festivities of the Fourth.

It should be remembered that parade entries does not have to involve a literal costuming, but might well be abstract or symbolic. There is fruitful and extensive material for parade ideas in this year's special theme. On exhibit at Wooddale School till school closes is an example of the beautiful "liberty" trophies which will be at stake.

GUEST EDITORIAL ON SAM ADAMS

THE SHIRAZ ADAMS this year in Kendallwood I, we have a "theme" which is truly appropriate to the 190th anniversary of the birth of the Declaration of Independence. Sam Adams might well be called, in my opinion, the Father of American Independence.

American independence required two main steps. The first main step, and really the chief one, was to get the lists around to where they wished to be independent. The second, and more or less consequent, step was to make the Declaration of Independence stick. Sam Adams' great achievement was in bringing about this first major step. The second step was accomplished under the Continental Army leadership of George Washington, but "instant" armies, guerrilla and heavy French assistance in the form of gold, soldiers and ships were bigger factors. Because the thirteen new States had to be much, much more than effectively independent, in order to get a new nation started, and because George Washington played such a very important and essential part in the construction and starting of a government for this new nation on a solid foundation, he is rightly called the Father of Our Country, in my opinion. But this does not make Washington the Father of American Independence.

LEGAL NOTICES

TOWNSHIP OF FARMINGTON OAKLAND COUNTY.

NOTICE OF HEARING SEWER IMPROVEMENT SPECIAL ASSESSMENT ROLL. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Special Assessment Roll No. 33 in the amount of $181,250.00 for the construction of sewer in said Township, will be presented to a third of all the population of the entire thirteen colonies.

First he "beated up" the other New England colonies, after having "beated up" Boston and the rest of Massachusetts Bay, and then the middle colonies, and finally brought along the southern colonies. In the early 1770's, after many concessions by the British, Sam Adams stood alone for resistance, and responsible for having kept alive the fire of liberty and independence. Even his chief recruit, John Hancock, wanted to withdraw at that time from the patriot cause, calling it radical. But Sam got him back later, a general amnesty offered by the British, prior to the Declaration.

John P. Mullin Is Albion Grad

There were 310 students awarded degrees at commencement ceremonies at Albion College June 5. Dr. Brand Blanchard, Sterling Professor Emeritus of Philosophy at Yale University, was the commencement speaker. Honorary degrees were awarded to six persons, including Dr. Blanchard.

John P. Mullin, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mullin, 2641 Westmoreland, was in the class. John's major is psychology. He has been awarded a fellowship in physical education at the University of Michigan. He graduated from Farmington Senior High School.

Sam Adams was a political genius, a genius "possessed" by a beautiful dream. The thrilling story of American independence is, in so many many ways, his creation. . . as playwright, director, producer and one of the actors. He composed, he orchestrated, he recruited, he conducted and he scheduled.

FUTURISM, THE most insightful of the royal governors for the Massachusetts Bay Colony, called Sam Adams the "Chief incendiary." Parson's referred to him as "chief of the revolution."

Sam was the first great twister of the British Lion's tail. Perhaps the first 100 years of our history as a nation, "twisting the lion's tail" was one of America's most popular sports.

When Sam Adams started to work, he was an Englishman, and he worked with a citizenry considering themselves to be loyal Englishmen. He changed that all around. A fantastic achievement. He started on grievances, protesting in the streets of Boston, and he worked for many years before he ever dared to reveal, even to his lieutenants, that his goal was to achieve independence.

SAM SUGGESTED setting up militia in the communities outside Boston, suggesting the militia man concept, and the courier warning system, to watch for, and resist, any attempt of the redcoats to leave Boston.

The most famous act of these couriers, of course, was Paul Revere's ride on the night of "the eighteenth of April in '75." The "lobsterbacks" were looking for more than powder and shot that night; they had warrants for the arrest of Sam Adams and John Hancock.

The "scattered farmers" drove the redcoats back to Boston. It was Sam's strategy and organization which had led to Lexington and Concord. In my opinion, he is the manufacturer of "the shot heard 'round the world."

Maybe Sam Adams should be called not only the Father of American Independence, but also the Mid-West.

New Officers Installed At Jaycee Annual Dinner

BY JOHN BAILEY

Norv Kennedy has been installed as president of the Farmington Jaycees for 1966-67. The installation took place last Saturday night at the Jaycee inaugural dinner and ball at the K of C hall in Farmington.

In accepting the gavel from 1965-66 president Pat Novak, Kennedy stated he was confident the Farmington Jaycees would build on their excellent past record and would go on to even greater heights. He said that the fact that Farmington Jaycees have such an outstanding record shows that the club will not be content to live on the past but will build on the record and will accomplish even more. The Farmington Jaycees recently won honors at the Jaycee chapter in Michigan.

At the dinner, the Jaycees gave a special press award to the Farmington Enterprise for the excellent press coverage the Enterprise has given the Jaycees during the past year. Mrs. Winona Woods accepted the award on behalf of the Enterprise.

Also installed at the dinner were the new board members who will serve the same term as the new president. They were: Chuck Williams, first vice-president; Art Hill, second vice-president; Larry Nemeche, secretary; John Butten, treasurer; and John Bailey, John Hay, Larlan Lorenz, Bill Mitchell, Bob Montgomery, and Bob Will, directors.

Lee S. Peel Awarded the 'Golden Pen'

Lee S. Peel, teacher of journalism and English at Farmington High School, was one of four educators who were honored for outstanding service to high school journalism during the 1966 Convention of the Michigan Intercollegiate Press Association at The University of Michigan last month.

A staff member since 1950, Peel was awarded the Golden Pen Award and was cited for "establishing a two-period journalism class which publishes an outstanding weekly, the 'Blue and White.'" He has been active in CSPS and local news-paper staff workshops, directed high school dramatic productions, organized "an inspiration to his high school journalists," and has motivated a number of them to become successful members of the journalism profession.

More than 1,000 high school journalism teachers, advisers, and students attended the annual event at the Rackham Building.
