TEENS FORM 5 D COMBO

A group of Farmington young men who shall hereafter be known as The Fifth Dimension have formed an instrumental combo which is being very well received by the music-loving public. They are playing at dances, wedding receptions, and wherever else their group may be summoned.

It all started when Paul Kamp who plays lead guitar invited Don Mills over one night to accompany him on the organ. The sound was so good, they decided to expand it a bit and Vinson Accioli joined them on the drums for their first engagement which was Ruth Steink's wedding.

Don recalls that they were so excited that evening, he forgot the address of the bride's house so called on the telephone from out on Haggerty and Maple and asked for Ruth. Whoever answered said that the wedding party had not yet returned. In his confusion, Don remembers asking, "Well, where are you?" and the reply was, "I'm at Ruth's house."

The Bengals were bombarded 15 to 0 by the bosses of their families. The Tigers didn't fare any better with the Orioles as they lost 8 to 2.

A trip to the Zoo is scheduled this Friday, July 29, for those of the South section. The buses will load at the respective playground sites at 8:30 a.m. and depart at 8:45 a.m. Arrival back will be between 2 and 2:30 p.m. Children will need 20 cents to cover necessary expenses. All Masonic Organizations Plan Festival Attractions

Plans to transform the Masonic Temple into a "Country Store" for the Farmington Founders Festival are rapidly taking shape. The store will be open on Saturday, July 30.

Jack Curry, P.M., was elected by the Farmington Lodge Temple Association to serve as coordinator of all Masonic activities for the festival. He stated that there will be a variety of activities on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. All members of the Masonic Fraternity will participate.

An "e-fashioned Thresher's Dinner" will be sponsored by the Order of Eastern Star on Friday evening from 5 until 7 p.m. The menu will feature country fried chicken, vegetable, homemade pie and biscuits as well as fish. Tickets will be available at the door. Concessions on the lawn will tempt the passerby with the aroma of hot dogs, sloppy joes, cotton candy, popcorn and all the usual goodies.
