The Cradle Of Love' Rocks Ronnie And Robyn To Hit Land

"The Cradle of Love" has been steadily inching its way up the local record charts and was last seen nosing into the number five position, Ronnie and Robyn, residents of the North Farmington area, are happily surprised, but it has meant considerable changes to their way of life. "The telephone never stops ringing," both of them lament. The latest jaunt was to Pittsburgh where they appeared on the Clark Race Dance Party.

One of their biggest thrills was their recent performance at Cobo Hall for an audience of approximately five thousand. The show was sponsored by radio station WXYZ as a benefit for "Keep Detroit Beautiful Teens."

That same day, the popular couple was also due to sing at the Windsor Arena. They almost needed a set of twins to keep up with themselves. That day too, said Robyn, the background band seemed to be playing something entirely different from what they were singing, but it was all great fun.

They are signed up with Hanna Barbara of California and contemplate a trip to the coast in the future. "Who knows," says Ronnie, "maybe we'll wind up doing cartoons with Yogi Berra."

They have appeared on Club 1270 and the Robin Seymour show, Port Huron's teen club, The Purple Onion, Daniel's Den in Saginaw and Alpena, and so many places that they can scarcely remember them all.

Before they teamed up a year and a half ago at the suggestion of their vocal teacher, Ruby Jones, both young people had already been troopers for years. Robyn can remember doing her act for the Auntie Dee television show, Starlit Stairway, and both of them have performed for just about every prison audience and service personnel base around this area.

Also, both of them have been doing USO shows for almost as long as they can remember.

They don't subscribe to the current craze for ultra casual dress and unkempt hairdos. When they visited the Enterprise, they were immaculately groomed. Robyn was wearing a pink and white dotted Swiss A-line sheath with a row of daisies applied on each sleeve. Ronnie wore dark slacks, sharp maroon blazer, white shirt and tie.

Dear Editor and Fellow-Readers:

May I provide a little of the background of our organization? Four years ago Mrs. Walter Carlin as activities committee chairman in the Women's Civic Club of Farmington approached Mr. Dulan, our City Manager, and suggested to him the establishing of a social club for Senior Citizens. Mr. Dulan said a club for Senior Citizens was "badly needed". So, under the sponsorship of the Women's Civic Club meetings were arranged at the First Methodist Church.

Through the generosity of the church, the Senior Citizens Social Club has had a splendid home for four years. For the last three years, we have been entirely on our own.

Our activities have increased with the growing membership. Now we meet for a social evening one night a month, and have a monthly noon business meeting followed by a social afternoon. Many of the ladies interested in sewing or quilting meet weekly to sew cancer patients' robes for convalescent homes and to do many other acts of charity. Many handmade items are made for our Christmas fair by our group. This is a Social Club and there is no fee for membership.

A spring bake sale and a Christmas fair are the activities which finance the club. With these funds we enjoy our twice-a-year chartered bus trips, an anniversary party, a Christmas party and picnics. Other Senior Citizens in Farmington interested are welcome to join our Club at any time.

If you wish further information please Mrs. Walter Carlin, president, at 474-7037.

Respectfully yours,
Mrs. F. J. Flood, Secretary
Senior Citizens Social Club of Farmington
