

CORRESPONDENCE

Redford

Redford needs a dentist.

The vacant store in the Hawthorn block will soon be filled with a stock of furnishing goods is the latest report.

C. A. Lahser attended the state convention of fourth-class postmasters in Detroit on Tuesday and Wednesday.

L. B. Lamphere made a misstep on the Hawthorn porch Monday and suffered a heavy fall to the cement sidewalk. His face was badly cut and he sustained other severe bruises.

Mrs. A. L. Lamphere has been confined to her bed the past week, but her many friends are pleased to know that she is again improving and hope to soon see her out again.

Mrs. H. Hally, Genevieve Willmarth and George Earl of Flint and Miss Lulu Burrows of Milford spent last week with Mrs. A. Willmarth.

The Frank Lee house on North Lahser avenue has been sold to Harriet Seward and Mr. Lee will build on his property, corner Waterford and South Lahser avenue.

C. E. Smith of Bell Branch has decided to go west and will sell his household goods and other personal property at public auction on Wednesday, Sept. 24, commencing at 12:30 o'clock, at his home at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker are planning to go to California this fall and expect to remain away for a year. They have leased their beautiful residence to Mr. Myers of the Redford Pharmacy who, we understand, will occupy it with a bride in a few short weeks.

The banquet at the Methodist church Tuesday night was well attended and the supper served was an extremely good one. Large platters piled high with chicken with chicken were the most attractive to the hungry guests, but the tables were also well loaded with every delicacy known to the cooking art. The tables were richly decorated, there being flowers in abundance and the service at the tables was decidedly good. The ladies can feel that their work was well done and that it was fully appreciated by those who were fortunate enough to be present.

Last week there appeared in the state papers an account of the death of a young man and young lady, caused by their automobile running into the river at St. Joseph when the draw bridge was open.

The young man was Lawrence Blakeman, son of sister of John Stahelin, formerly Augusta Stahelin, and well known in Redford, where she passed her youthful days.

Lawrence spent the summer with his uncle, John Stahelin, four years ago and made many acquaintances about here, who deeply regret his tragic death.

"Variety is the spice of life," etc. After winning 19 straight games the Redford ball team lost last Saturday to the Straits-Corinthians. Some of the players were off, others farther off and still others clear off in their playing and when the agony was finally over and the reporters were all feeling "off."

After the brilliant game of the previous week, when practically the same team took a two to one game from the strong combination headed by a couple of the Detroit Tiger contingent, the locals seemed to think that it was up to them to show us something different and they certainly did it.

It shows that the same uncertainty exists in base ball that is found in other things. Redford has made an exceptional showing in base ball this season, winning four-fifths of the games they have played and have done this with a better class of opponents than were ever before seen in Redford.

While there seemed to be no excuse for a shut-out game last Saturday it was one of those cases where no one in particular was to blame. Judging from all that happened we are led to believe that it was due to a state of the atmosphere. We'll let it go at that anyway.

We believe that the sentiment in nearly unanimous for a water system and hope to soon see the council take steps toward bringing the matter before the voters for a determination of the question.

It will only be a short time until it will be found to be absolutely necessary for the protection of the health of the community that the people cease to use the surface water from the wells as is now the case. The growth of the village only increases the chances of contamination and an epidemic may result at almost any time.

The village is almost entirely without the least semblance of fire protection. The starting of a blaze means destruction so far as means for fighting a fire is concerned. Even a paid brigade would be powerless for a few minutes pumping would exhaust the supply in any well in the village.

The delaying of this important question may mean more to us than is realized. It usually takes a conflagration or an epidemic to make the people stir from their fabled security and then they hasten to lock the stable after the horse is stolen.

OLD SOLDIERS AT FAIR.

Veterans Will Mingle With Youngsters This Year.

Monday, Sept. 15, will this year be known as Grand Army day at the Michigan State Fair. All the Michigan veterans who wear the regular Grand Army badge or the round medal will be admitted free of charge. Various tents about the grounds will be set aside where the veterans may convene and discuss old times and have a good time in general.

As Monday will also be Children's day, there will be a reasonable contrast in the majority of the patrons. The old soldiers are in the majority granddads and will certainly welcome young America, for whose happiness they endured such hardships in the stirring days of the sixties.

Don't these warm days make you think of those dandy Oil Stoves at Cook & Co's? They have one for YOU.

Don't forget that Cook & Co. are having a sale of Summer Dress goods.

The Tented Village

By GEORGE W. DICKINSON, General Manager of the Michigan State Fair.

GEORGE W. DICKINSON.

WE HAVE disappointed many who have been expressed by Michigan State Fair visitors over the lack of accommodations in the way of sleeping quarters when attending the state's outing in Detroit. But I firmly believe I have partially solved the problem this year.

With a tent village.

A big area has been appropriated off at the Woodward League grounds, and preparations are now under way for the completion of the countless canvas abodes which will house visitors during Fair week.

These will not be merely tent shelters, but will contain all the necessary comforts of sleeping quarters. The district with of course be properly policed, and property will be severely insisted on.

The innovation is but another step in the working out of the new Fair management's plan that the Michigan State Fair should be a family gathering and not strictly limited to the members of the sterner sex. It was this very absence of adequate sleeping accommodations which prevented the entire family partaking of the pleasures of the Wolverine State's holiday in the past.

The farmer's housewife always dreaded the crush of the cars and the trouble of finding a place to stay while in the city and consequently could not figure on bringing the children to town.

This year rural Michigan can figure on getting to the Fair, say, in the morning and spending the entire day on the grounds and seeing everything worth seeing and never be annoyed with the attendant law on getting a town hotel car after it is over. Then, again, as is often the case, the visitor does not feel that he can see the Fair properly in one day. By sleeping at the grounds he can get up bright and early and start in sightseeing again without extra taxi hire.

What the Fair is.

A gigantic exposition of Michigan's agricultural and industrial interests.

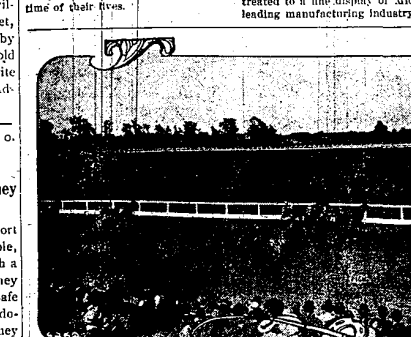

A postgraduate course for successful farmers and a primary summer school for the boys and girls.

An educational outing for the entire family, whether from the city or rural districts.

An annual proof of the greatness of the Wolverine State.

A Reminder.

Don't forget to take a ride on the new giant roller coaster at the Michigan State Fair Sept. 15-20. It is absolutely safe. Let the children have the time of their lives.

AMERICA'S GREATEST PACERS AND TROTTERS WILL COMPETE FOR RICH PURSES AT THE MICHIGAN STATE FAIR, SEPT. 15-20.

COULD BUT DID NOT WANT TO.

"Tired?" And you said you could die dancing!" "I could. And I would, if I danced with you much longer."

DRAWBACK.

"I have, alas! a sunny lot." "Why do you retire about that?" "Because most suburbanites want shady ones."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; no cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give three hundred dollars reward for a cure of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by local Catarrh Cure. Send for circular free.
