In the Celebrity Corner
SEEN IN THE CELEBRITY corner at Warren Valley Country Club are three celebrities (L-R) Lindy Berry of Berry Home Supply, Elleen Boze of Observer Newspapers and Mike Berry, attorney, Chairman of the 15th District Democrats. Host of Warren Valley, Frank Garity, announced this week a Chuck-Wagon Special (all you can eat) will be served every Thursday evening beginning Oct. 6, from 5 to 10. In addition, there will be dancing on the week-end. Hearty luncheons are served at the Club, open daily to the public. Warren Valley has separate dining rooms for special parties, a banquet hall and is located on Warren Road, just west of Beech Road.

Ice Follies, Opens Nov. 15
At Olympia For 12 Days
The 1967 edition of the picnic with The Williams family, making their second tour with the Follies, and a trip through the "Musical Garden of Dreams" with Little Debbie Williams.
There's a special fashion show for the ladies as six wedding gowns from around the world are modeled in "Bridal Rhapsody." Each of the towns, designed by Mary Wills, cost $4,000.
World champion Donald Jackson is back with his unequalled jumps and spins. Richard Dwyer as "The Debonaire," Dorothy Ann Nelson as a charming coquette, and Nina Bauer as the fiery Freya, goddess of beauty.
The three Scarecrows head the comedy in the show, along with Mr. Frick, who's back for a record 28 years of amazing antics. Adding to the laughs are Bill Wall, the Brattys and Timmy the Tiger.
For the children, there's a

U-D Actors To Present Shaw Play
George Bernard Shaw's stimulating comedy of a boy-don who gains the stature of a woman and a queen under the tutelage of a patient and wise aging hero will be presented in the University of Detroit Theatre's production of "Caesar and Cleopatra."
Opening the Drama Series, the play will be seen at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 14, 15, 16, 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, and 30 in the U. of D. Theatre in the McNichols Campus Library.
'Understudies' Make President Preview Plans
Thirty-seven "understudies" of Wayne State University's Hilarity Classic Theatre are making plans for the fourth annual President's Preview, a benefit performance for actors' fellowships, scheduled January 7.
The "Understudies," a committee of Detroit area women, hope to duplicate last year's goal of $25,000. All the money will go toward fellowship for the 38-member repertory company.
