Wally Roberts UP' GOING CURTAIN

A quick flick of his striped tail, a menacing growl, and like a bolt of yellow-black lightning that ferocious predatory beast of the jungle—a tiger—has jumped into our midst.

Murray Schisgal's "Tiger" was a hilarious Broadway comedy that ran over a year featuring those two perfect performers, Eli Wallach and Anne Jackson. New Yorkers flocked in large numbers to witness Eli's nightly stalking of Anne in his own N.Y. apartment jungle. "The Tiger" was sharp, rapacious and had a biting appeal that really amazed audiences.

A couple of weeks ago old Wally saw a talented group of Eastern Michigan drama students do "The Tiger" in a problem that was that only 50 people saw the magnificent job done by Director Pat Patterson and actors Linda Slinger and Linda Slinger. The EMU Studio theater accommodates 50 people.

Imaginative Set Cuts Down on Scene Changes

When "Oliver" opens Nov. 25 at Bentley High School in the Livonia Redford Theatre Guild production of "Oliver", the set will be a revolving platform on which are four separate scenes. With slight modification, these scenes convert to a variety of others. This innovation assures fast scene changes. Fred Nelson is directing the construction of the set.

Livonia Kids Win Prizes

Three Livonia youths walked away with the prizes at the first of the Theatre's Halloween costume contest Oct. 25.

Thomas Leeman of 699 Dwight, Livonia, won the prize for the best costume, while the best prize for the funniest costume went to Randy Evenden of 9800 Hubbard, Livonia. He was 14 and 14178 Painbridge, Livonia, took the honors for the most original costume.

Jerry Booth, 10117 Nationality, was the judge.
