

L.I.T. Offers New Courses For Women

New programs and courses are included in the 1967-68 catalog of the Lawrence Institute of Technology, which has just been published.

They are expected to attract many new students and develop L.I.T. at Ten Mile and Northwestern Highway, into a college with a great many more co-eds. At present, L.I.T. has 31 women students.

New next fall will be the School of Arts and Science, offering baccalaureate degree programs in chemistry, mathematics and physics. The first year in the programs is being offered in 1967-68. The second, third, and fourth years will be added in successive years.

Nursery Tots Visit Santa

Sixty children and mothers from the Wayne Nursery, Inc., had lunch with Santa Claus in a downtown department store on Dec. 16.

A chartered bus took the youngsters to lunch and back. Each child had a talk with Santa and was given a coloring book, mug and balloon.

The children were entertained with songs by Miss Music and a live Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy.

The Wayne Nursery is located in St. John's Episcopal Church in Westland and is operated with a licensed teacher and mothers participating on a rotating basis.

Prospective members wishing more information may call Mrs. Barry McEachern, 721-0359.

Alums Fete Co-ed Members

An "A O Pie and Coffee Kitch" is scheduled tonight (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m. by Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority for all its collegiate and their mothers and alumnae in the area.

It will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas McMillan, 29720 Old Bedford road, Farmington.

Members said it was hoped that many colleges and universities would be represented to bring first-hand information of active chapters on many campuses. For further information those interested may call Mrs. Robert H. Brees, 471-5184.

Brush Duster, Flowers

To banish dust easily when it settles on your dried arrangements, gently clean them with a small, soft brush. A water-color or artist's brush will do nicely, says the Society of American Florists.

Foggy, where dust shows more readily, may be wiped with a slightly dampened cloth or brush.

Picture Flowers In A Frame

"Cultivate a garden that blooms year 'round on your walls. All you need are the freshest flowers and foliage your indoor or outdoor garden, or your florist can provide, some velvet or felt on which to mount them, a picture frame and glass, white glue such as Elmer's Glue-All, and tweezers.

Dry the flowers by pressing them between two sheets of paper under a pile of books for about two weeks. Follow the directions that come with commercial flower-drying mixtures. Be sure to collect an assortment so that your bouquets will be a medley of colors and shapes.

After selecting a frame (if it's an old one, spray it with Krylon gold paint, perhaps) cut two mats to fit it—one of medium-weight cardboard, the other of velvet or felt. Put together with just a little bit of glue around the edge.

Defrosting Aid

A rubber dustpan is handy when defrosting the freezer. It makes an excellent scoop to lift the frost out. Makes a quick job of it and saves freezing your hands.

Brazil nuts are easy to slice thin for a cake garnish if you parboil them first for a few minutes, then slice with a vegetable peeler.

Women on The GO!

by MARGARET MILLER

Picture a very busy lady whose office life is spent keeping track of traffic violations and other court cases.

Add to the picture a few hours off two days before Christmas and some last-minute shopping to do. Put in jam-packed traffic conditions.

And then add the villain to the picture—a rear-end car bump for the first accident in Mrs. Betty Talbot's 22 years of driving.

Failed to ruffle the efficient Mrs. Talbot, Livonia Municipal Court clerk for the last six years.

"While I was waiting for the police officer to take the information," she said later, "I decided that probably now I'll have more sympathy for drivers who come into court for hearing or to pay fines."

Mrs. Talbot was named to her post by former Judge James R. Loran, and has continued under Judge James R. McCann, taking responsibility for the traffic fine monies collected, scheduling court hearings and handling a wealth of other duties.

The Municipal Court of Livonia, in a converted church at 33211 N. Seven Mile, are packed with people most of the time, now, Mrs. Talbot reports.

Statistically, the case load is just about double from what it was a year ago.

"I can think of a number of reasons," says the trim, grey-haired clerk. "Of course there are more people in Livonia, and more accidents and violations. And quite a few more police officers, at more tickets are written."

"And I'm also inclined to think that with insurance costs so high and traffic records so closely scrutinized, more people are going into court to argue their cases instead of just paying the fines."

There have been more cases to handle during the busy holiday season, but Mrs. Talbot doesn't expect any influx of extra cases over the New Year's weekend.

"That's the time when people drive most carefully. I are most likely to look out for the old driver," she explained. "The number of cases is really likely to go down on New Year's Eve."

Mrs. Talbot said her accomplishments in keeping court routine running smoothly would be impossible without the able assistance of the other women who work there.

"I certainly would like to name and thank them," she said. "There's Mary Sawin, Frances Shultz, Bea McPolly Fitzgerald and Barbara Dornick."

In home hours, Betty Talbot has a lively household. At 9901 Berwick, is president of the Livonia Sororistim Club and does volunteer service each Friday evening, dispensing orange and pineapple juice (other flavors, too) to patients at St. Mary Hospital.

Her husband, Joseph Talbot, is a member of the Livonia Charter Commission, having been victorious last year in his first try for election to office.

Son, Michael, will graduate in June from Georgetown University in Washington and is looking forward to attending law school and then getting into political life.

Daughter, Mary Kay, is a junior at Mercy College and will start practice teaching next semester. Youngest son, Patrick is in his senior year at Franklin High.

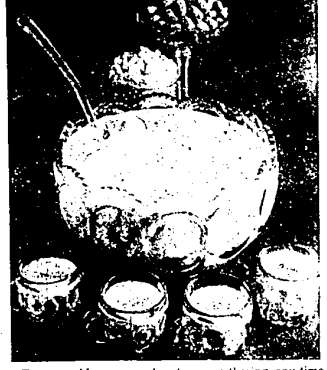

"My job is a busy and tiring one," Mrs. Talbot said. "I just hope I've been able to give an accurate picture of it."

"I'll be sure to read this article," added Mike. "I've always wondered just what Mother did at the office."

Egg Nog Comes To Party's Aid

Egg nog adds a warm glow to any gathering, any time, but especially in the holiday season. This Egg Nog Party Royale, which serves 22 people, says "The more, the merrier!" Made the Borden Kitchen way, it's a rich blend of instant coffee, vanilla ice cream, canned egg nog and whipped heavy cream, doctored with nutmeg and scoops of ice cream.

EGG NOG PARTY ROYALE

- (Makes 22 four-ounce servings)
- 3 tablespoons plus 1 teaspoon Borden's instant coffee
 - 1/2 cup hot water
 - 1 1/2 cups cold water
 - 1 pint Lady Borden vanilla ice cream
 - 4 cups canned egg nog
 - 3 cups heavy cream, whipped
 - 2 cups finely crushed ice

Dissolve instant coffee in hot water, stir in cold water. Scoop ice cream into a punch bowl and add coffee. Blend in egg nog. Gently fold in whipped cream. Add crushed ice. If desired additional scoops of ice cream may be added. Sprinkle with nutmeg and serve.

Add food coloring to plastic starch to make fingerprint that washes out of clothes easily.
