

LIT Offers Courses in Evening

An opportunity to earn a bachelor of science degree or an associate degree entirely in evening college is offered by the Lawrence Institute of Technology.

A recent survey showed that only two other colleges in the country offer a program which is completely scheduled and planned similar to the programs offered for day college students at LIT and elsewhere.

At LIT the evening programs are in engineering, architecture and industrial management. A student can complete all of his work for a bachelor of science degree by attending on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings for a minimum of six years.

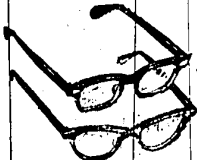

A student also can complete studies—entirely in evening college—for an associate in engineering degree in building construction, electrical and electronic, industrial supervision and mechanical technologies. A minimum of 3 1/2 years attendance on Tuesday and Thursday nights is required.

Anyone interested in starting these evening programs should apply to the college at Northwestern and West Ten Mile, Southfield. Counselors are available during the day and evening, Monday through Friday.

Registration for the next evening semester begins February 13 with classes starting February 20.
