WITH THE THEME "Violets Invade Quakertown," the center of attraction at Michigan State African Violet Show at the Masonic Temple April 29 was Mrs. Lyman Joslin, of Northville. Mrs. Joslin the day of the show was dressed in an authentic Quaker costume worn by ancestors of her husband who were Quakers in this area. Holding a Quaker coal oil jug, Mrs. Joslin is wearing a two-part Quaker bonnet whose crown is buttoned to the rim. Button hooks used to be used to put these two together.

Emblems Of Help Going Up

Does your child know the meaning of a "Helping Hands" sign?

The Farmington Jaycee Auxiliary has been working with the PTAs in the Farmington School district so that the "Helping Hands" could become a community-wide project.

So far, Longacre, Ten Mile, William Grace and Fairview Elementary Schools have their signs placed in the window of responsible homes in their school districts. Homes displaying the "Helping Hands" emblem will provide refuge to children who are lost, hurt, ill or in trouble.

All elementary schools in the Farmington school district will be participating in this program and should have signs up within the next month.
