4th Grade Space Shot Was 'A-O-K'

Fourth graders in Fred Mack's class at Kennedy Elementary School, Livonia, planned and produced a simulated space shot as one of their last projects before summer vacation. The six-hour space shot was complete with two astronauts, a space ship 7 1/2 feet high, tube food, and a ground crew using walkie-talkies and a tracking map. The spacecraft, U.S. Kennedy I, was occupied by Kathy Bosworth and Pat Moore. They lived on tuna, applesauce and "Cool pops." The astronauts' classmates fanned out with walkie-talkies to tracking stations throughout the school. At 3:30 p.m. splash-down was pronounced "A-O-K" by astronauts and ground crew.
