

Hospital Program Gets Needed Assist

For a mentally-ill young woman, the road back to ward health takes many turns.

But one of the most important has to be a renewed awareness of herself as a person and as a woman.

That's why the activities and therapy staff at Building H of Northville State Hospital H Building, tries a length of material on a young patient who will be a member of her dressmaking class in the staff's Good Grooming program. Looking on Mrs. Frank DePodesta (second from right) and Mrs. Lester Schaeffer, whose Republican Women's organization of Farmington Hills provided materials for the class.

The women have donated lengths of bright cotton and rayon, as well as matching thread and zippers and patterns to the project, which will be directed by Mrs. Karen Cason, another staff member.

The class, Mrs. Cason said, will consist of 18 patients of ages ranging from 15 to the mid 30's. "The women are going to make simple shifts," she added.

Mrs. Lester Schaeffer and Mrs. Frank DePodesta, of the Farmington Hills group, brought the donated material to the hospital and were on hand as Mrs. Cason began checking colors and fabrics with the seamstress-to-be.

"Smiles all around as the project began, indicated that womanly pride may be a powerful weapon against mental illness.

A new facet of the program—a course in dressmaking—is getting underway soon with an assist from the Republican Women's Organization of Farmington Hills.

State Fair Offers Many Prizes To Michigan Homemakers

The state's top homemakers will be competing for a number of sweepstakes and memorial awards at the 118th annual Michigan State Fair which opens Friday, Aug. 25, and runs through Labor Day.

Twenty special awards will be given in addition to the regular premiums offered in the community Arts Department.

Heading the list is the Michigan State Fair First Lady Homemaker Award, going to the person receiving the highest total point count for the present year. Contestants must be a ribbon winner in all three divisions: Needlework and craft, baking, canning and preserving.

Mrs. George Romney is slated to present the award—an engraved silver bowl.

Among the top sweepstakes prizes will be the Homemaker of the Year Award, $25 offered by the Detroit Free Press to the woman or girl who wins the most blue ribbons in divisions II and III (both food divisions) and the Detroit News Garden Department Award, also $25, to the exhibitor with the most blue ribbon points in flower arrangement and table settings combined.

New this year is the Leeper-Harding Memorial Award to the junior exhibitors totaling the highest number of points—$10 donated by George and Marie Harding.

Also new are four sweepstakes awards: A $25 certificate from Frank's Nursery Sales to the exhibitor with the highest total points in classes 8550, 8551 and 8562—all flower arrangements; an orchid plant to the exhibitor with the highest score in any one of the table setting classes from Margaret Jegenitz Orchids; the Mrs. Charles Schweim Award of a flower arrangement container to the exhibitor with the highest blue ribbon point score in any flower arrangement class; and a certificate of $25 to the highest total of points in Creative Hobby Craft and Holiday Items from Frank's Trims.

RETA LANE (left) teacher of the new Dear-Skin Village Day Care Center, welcomes her first young pupil as Brad Davidson is introduced by Mrs. Gene Davidson.

New Nursery School to Open in Plymouth Church

Registrations are being accepted for a new nursery school to be opened Sept. 10 at the Church of the Nazarene, 41559 East Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Rev. Ronald D. Moss said the school, to be known as the Dear-Skin Village Day Care Center, would be church-sponsored and open to the entire community.

Reta Lane will be teacher.

More than 110,000 volunteers join with the Young Women's Christian Association of the U.S.A.

In the state-licensed school, her assistant will be Mrs. Nelson Bradford.

Children three and four years of age (they must be three by Dec. 1) are eligible for the school, which will have daily hours from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. All toys and equipment will be furnished, and there will be a daily snack of milk and cookies.

Miss Lane plans a program including development of coordination, group play, reading, and number preparation and music.

A registration fee of $4 per child or $8 for two children will be charged.
