Police Beef Up Patrol To Curb Holiday Tolls

In preparation for a heavy upsurge in traffic during the last of the three long weekends of the summer season—Labor Day—State Police are placing special emphasis on patrol coverage during the hours of congested travel.

The holiday patrol will begin at 12 noon Friday, Sept. 1, and end at midnight Monday, Sept. 4.

Maximum coverage will be assigned to the periods when there is expected to be the heaviest travel, between 3 p.m. and 9 p.m. Vehicle inspection lanes are suspended and these officers will be on patrol.

Col. Fredrick Davis, State Police director, made a plea for safety on the part of all drivers.

"It has been proven that there is a direct correlation between the frequency of traffic accidents and traffic violations," he said.

"This means that drivers can reduce the death toll by reducing violations. During the heavy holiday travel it is of the utmost importance that every driver observe every precaution to drive safely and avoid an accident."

"Why invite a tragedy by being careless during what is intended to be a happy holiday?"

The State Police death toll for the period will be compiled from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday. Last year during the similar period 39 persons were killed.

Davis also reminded that with the reopening of schools drivers must be on the alert for school children and on the highway must stop in either direction when a school bus is stopped to take on or let off passengers.

fourth year of operation. While official figures will not be available until Sept. 7, top administrators last week were predicting a head count enrollment of as high as 4,150 at the community college which opened its doors in August, 1964, with 2,018 students.

The new enrollment peak will fill the college virtually to capacity, according to administrative reports to Dr. Eric Bradner, college president.

Dean of Academic Instruction Robert A. Slenger called the classroom situation "critical" on the basis of a pre-enrollment scheduling that indicated a 97 to 100 per cent occupancy of classrooms during the day.

Fred Stefanski, director of the evening program, said a 100 per cent use of classrooms had been scheduled for evening classes and plans were being drawn for expanding the Saturday morning program with additional classes to ease the housing problem.

Meanwhile, a series of building and development projects on campus were being rushed to completion in time for the opening of school.

A new 1,000-car student parking lot at the south end of the campus will be completed, paved and lighted. A new greenhouse for use in the biology instruction program will be ready. Interiors of all campus buildings have been painted in a campus-wide project.

Expansion of the food preparation area in the cafeteria has been virtually completed and will permit serving of regular meals during the dinner hour for evening program students. Remodeling of the Administration Building is being rushed to completion to provide office and working space for additional faculty and staff.

Dean of Student Affairs

Edward V. McNally, in his report to Dr. Bradner, offered a conservative enrollment estimate of "in excess of 4,000." Director of Admissions Barbara

Geil was less conservative with a forecast of 4,150. Miss Geil said her office had accepted 1,550 new students in the day program, and reported the possibility of 2,000 newcomers enrolled in both day and evening programs.

This estimate, she added, did not include apprentices entering the fast-growing Schoolcraft program for the first time.

The apprentice program has enrolled 400 students, three times the number who entered the program in its initial year last fall, according to Ronald J. Monfette, apprentice coordinator.

Registrar Norman E. Dunn, on whose shoulders rests much of the responsibility for registering the students, said more than 2,600 packets of registration material had been mailed to students in advance of the registration period which began Monday afternoon.

"We have been swamped by mail registrations," Dunn said. "But this shows us that the students are getting used to registering by mail and even prefer it, since they have the option of registering in person."

Counselors in the Student Affairs Office worked through last Thursday completing appointments with students in advance of the registration period.

Adult Classes Open To Area Residents

Full term registration for the Wayne Community School District's Continuing Education will be held Sept. 11-14 at Wayne Memorial High School cafeteria 7 to 9 p.m.

Most class fees have been reduced by 25 per cent.

Non-credit classes cost $7.50 for 20 hours of instruction. Registration is open to all residents regardless of residence.

The "community school" concept has allowed for the development of many new classes and expanded school facilities by the community for citizens as well as groups.

Coordinator James Lombard outlined new areas of educational activity. They are the G.E.D. testing program for both school residents and non-residents.

In addition to the regular high school completion classes for adults will be offered. There is a one $5 registration fee for high school credit classes which enables students to take between one and four classes.

The newly approved adult diploma by the Board of Education will allow adults to complete their high school diploma in much less time and with greater flexibility.

Veterans wishing to use part of their G.I. Bill to complete high school should contact Continuing Education Center at PA 8-1880 for information.

With the largest selection of classes ever offered—credit, non-credit, driver education, and youth classes as well as other services—this is expected to attract the greatest enrollment in the history of continuing education.

Complete class schedules are being mailed to all Wayne School District residents plus others who have either attended in previous terms or requested a brochure copy.

In addition, the brochures may be picked up around town at newspapers, library, banks, Chamber of Commerce, city and township halls, business centers and professional offices, and the Board of Education office, 3712 Williams, Wayne.

PAYING THEIR WAY — College costs know. Registration began Monday as the money as these students at Schoolcraft College began its third year of operation.

14 for 14 Is Record of Nurses

All 14 members of the first Associate Degree Nursing class to graduate from Schoolcraft College have passed the state licensure examination to become registered nurses.

Mrs. Harriet Satig, Schoolcraft director of nursing education, said she had been informed of the examination results by the Michigan Board of Nursing. The nurse graduates took the state examination in Lansing on June 28. Results were released last week.

The 14 were graduated from the college on April 30. Two others, according to Mrs. Satig, will sit for the state RN licensure examination in October.

One of them completed liberal arts requirements for the nursing program this summer to graduate. The other, who completed her course requirements earlier this year, recently became eligible to take the examination after she became 20 years of age.

The new RN's are: Mrs. Joyce Hubbard, Mrs. June Lattin, Mrs. Sharon Malkin, Darlene Mills, Mrs. Roberta Nicholas, and Maria Samsonov, all of Livonia; Mrs. Marilyn Burley, Mrs. Judith Thornton and Mrs. Shirley Vipperman, all of Plymouth; Cynthia Clark, Westland; and Mrs. Jean Melton, Mrs. Rosemary Roberts, Sheila Saint, and Mrs. Geraldine Smart, all of Detroit.

ARTIE P. GARNER

Livonian Promoted To Ford PR Post

Artie P. Garner has been appointed public relations manager for Autolite-Ford Parts Division of Ford Motor Company. Garner, formerly on the public relations staff at the company's Ford Division, replaces T. O. Scripps.

His sons, Artie, 14, and Jim, 13, are Livonia Observer newsmen.

A native of Aliquippa, Pa., Mr. Garner was graduated from high school there in 1943 and received a bachelor of arts degree from Kent State University in Kent, O., in 1950 after serving three years in the U.S. Navy.

He worked as a reporter on the Kent Courier-Tribune and the Evening Record in Ravenna, O., before joining Ford as editor of the employee newspaper in Cleveland, O., in 1952.

He joined Ford's North Central public relations office in Cleveland in 1954 and was transferred to the Ford news department in Dearborn, Mich., in 1960. He was named a coordinator in the company's community relations department in 1962 and joined the Ford Division public relations staff in 1964.

Garner, his wife and three children, now make their home at 30524 Borchin in Livonia.

State Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield, who will be taking part in a legislative investigation of crime in Michigan's streets, has warned suburban mayors against accepting Detroit Mayor Cavanagh's proposal for cooperation in the field of police and fire protection.

Kuhn doubted "Detroit's sincerity" and accused Cavanagh of taking an interest in suburbia only when he can "use it to his best advantage."

A former Berkley mayor who fought Detroit's income tax as it applies to non-residents, Kuhn said Cavanagh should seek to have the non-resident feature repealed before suburban mayors should consider mutual police-fire aid acts with Detroit. Kuhn's publicly circulated letter to the mayors accused Cavanagh of failing to practice cooperation with the suburbs by refusing to join a "Metropolitan Mayors Association" by taxing non-residents who work in Detroit, and by Detroit's raising its water rates to the suburbs.

"To me, it is ironic that today, after the Detroit riots, Mayor Cavanagh has finally recognized his need for suburban friends," Kuhn said.

Kuhn told the Observer Newspapers he will be taking part in a series of four public hearings a special Senate investigating committee on crime will hold during September.

The hearings are scheduled for Wednesday, Sept.

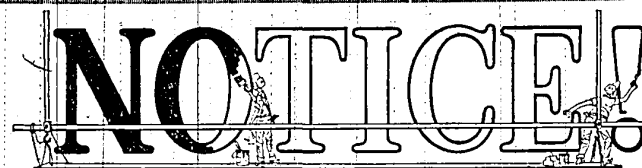

13, in Detroit's City-County Building; Wednesday, the 20th, also in Detroit; Wednesday, the 27th, in Lansing; and Thursday, the 28th, in Grand Rapids.

"What does it take to return law and order to the streets?" will be the question the committee will ask, Kuhn said.

A number of former state and Detroit police commissioners, along with the public, will be asked to testify, Kuhn said.

The investigation will concentrate on crime problems, rather than social problems, the senator said.

Kuhn's district includes northwestern Wayne and southwestern Oakland counties.
