FIRST GAME OF BASKET BALL

Juniors Win the First Honors of the Season by Beating the Seniors, 19 to 9

The first basket ball game of the season took place in the water works hall last Saturday night. The game was between the Seniors and Juniors of the high school and the Juniors won the laurels with a score of 19 to 9. The coach on which the Seniors had been selling tickets was raffled off that evening. The lucky number belonged to Miss Mae Dewey, a member of last year's graduating class and now a teacher at the West Farmington school.

Lytle Attends Road Congress

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Lytle are home from St. Louis, Mo., where they attended the U. S. Good Roads Congress. Mr. Lytle was one of the eleven delegates from Michigan who attended the convention. He had the honor of serving on the resolutions committee and assisted in framing a resolution providing that congress use its influence to secure the enactment of legislation providing for five national highways running from east to west and covering the five tiers of states from the Atlantic to Pacific. These national highways would connect with the state and county trunk lines. The resolution was adopted.

Business First, then Pleasure
After the regular business meeting of the Wahnegi Rebekah lodge last Tuesday night, the evening was devoted to cards. Seven tables were placed and ten games of progressive pedro were played. Two hand-painted plates were the first prizes and they were won by Mrs. Davison of Redford, who played as a gentleman, and Miss Zaida Steele. The consolation prizes of handkerchiefs were awarded to Miss Johnson and Fred Milroy. Apples were served during the games.

An Adjourned Meeting

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Universalist church on Saturday, Nov. 22, at two o'clock at the home of Carlos Steele. All members of the parish or those interested in the work of this church are urged to be present as there is business of importance to be attended to.—Ida A. Steele, Clerk.

Four Generations Represented

Four generations were represented when Mr. and Mrs. Allie Phelps and daughter, Helen, Miss John Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wolfe and daughter, Ernestine, spent Sunday with Mrs. Clara Phelps.

Venison for the Harger's

Clark Harger is away from his dairy farm a few days, hunting with a party of Detroit men in the Upper Peninsula. He reports that deer are plentiful and that they have already captured two.

From "York State"

Mrs. Alta Conroy of Kanona, N. Y., is making an extended visit with her daughter, Mrs. Lyman Sprague. Fred Conroy, who spent several days this week with his sister, returns to New York city Friday. He has been employed in Detroit the past summer.

Getting a Few Deer

"Deer news" from the north is beginning to pour in to those left at home. Larue Steele of Redford is credited with shooting one and the Gibson & Phelps party have captured two.

Washington Theater-Detroit

The Washington Theatre, Washington Boulevard and Clifford street, Detroit, will inaugurate its new winter policy, a season of repertoire, on Monday evening, Nov. 24. The business direction of the theatre has passed under the management of William Moore Patch of Pittsburg. Mr. Patch plans a cycle of new plays, most of them never before seen in Detroit. Among them are: "The Blindness of Virtue," C. Hamilton's tremendous dramatic success; "The New Sin," a play first produced by Liebler & Co. at the New Theatre in New York; "Lady Patricia," a delightful comedy, and "The Whirlwind." Among the new plays: "The Lad of Mirror," which was loaned to the Washington Theatre by David Belasco; "The Eternal Mystery," a one-act play by Geo. Jean Nathan, dramatic editor of the Smart Set, and "The Prisoner of Chance," by a well known Detroit man.

In the new company at the Washington will be: Mr. Mitchell Harris, Miss Eva Vincent, Miss Harriet Worthington and Miss Julie Herne, who will remain as leading woman. The stage will be under the competent direction of Frank E. Lamb.

The opening attraction under the new management will be Jackson D. Haag's comedy "Bachelors and Benedicts," first produced by H. K. Frasse.

"Bachelors and Benedicts" is a satire on people who deary and poke fun of married life. Its characters represent two groups of people. First, we have a highly amusing collection of bachelors, each of whom thinks himself a woman-hater and all of whom have pledged themselves not to marry. Secondly, the author presents a similar group of women, each member thereof a confirmed man-hater, and the entire body of them sworn never to give in to Cupid's dart. The dialogue that ensues between these two groups is delicious. But woe, alas! Before the first act is over it is discovered that there are two deserters from the ranks. Leslie Gilbert, the most attractive of the bachelors, can no longer stifle the yearnings of his heart and displays the bad taste to fall head over heels in love with Dorothy Allerton, the youngest member of the Man-haters' club.

Both are scorried by their respective bodies at once for giving in to each other's charms.

The second act reveals the home of Leslie and his young wife. Here it is discovered that married life is not all that it is cracked up to be. Quarrels and bickerings are frequent. Leslie yearns for the old life of freedom and Dorothy wishes herself back among her sisters who made it their business to scorn anything in trousers. An open break eventually ensues and Leslie returns to his bachelor friends while Dorothy flies home to her mother and former sister spinsters.

It is the third act of Mr. Haag's comedy that is the most original of the lot. Gilbert discovers, much to his dismay, that practically all of his bachelor pals have fallen head over heels in love, following his marriage. In vain he tries to tell them of his own experience, but they will not listen, only one of them holding out against the temptation of getting married. Dorothy finds herself in a similar state of mind. A reconciliation between these two is effected before the final curtain descends, when all the old bachelors become benedicts and all the old maids, married women.

Carl Hutton, Mrs. Charles Ely and Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Johnson visited in Howell several days this week.

WORK PRISONERS IN THE WINTER

Sheriff Oliver Has Some Advanced Ideas Along This Line

Sheriff Oliver of Oakland county thinks that work ought to be provided for jail prisoners in the winter as well as in the summer time. In the warm weather they can be made to work on the roads, but in cold weather they only sit around and are fed and warmed by the taxpayers money. Recently three men were caught stealing rides on the Grand Trunk railroad cars by railroad detectives and for this serious offense the county will support three able-bodied men for 30 days each with no return and no benefit to anyone for they will steal more rides when released, for they will want to be cared for the balance of the winter by generous old Oakland county.

"Safety First"

"Safety First" is the slogan of the D. U. R. and the company is trying in every way possible to impress the words on the minds of both crew and passengers in such a manner that it will stop much of the heedlessness that now exists around the street cars. So many lives are lost every year that might be spared if only a little care is exercised that a campaign of education seems to be necessary. We are living under such a full head of steam nowadays that we do not even take time to prevent dying when it can often be done so easily. Go slow around the cars and look out for yourself.

M. E. Church Notes

[By the Pastor]
On Sunday Rev. Geo. E. Gullen will preach morning and evening.

Our lantern talks promise to be a fine addition to the interest of the Sunday evening services. A splendid body of people attended last Sunday evening.

A week from next Sunday the children will have entire charge of the service, preaching little sermons on the Bible, Christ, Temperance, Holiness. Come and hear these "Gospel Talks from Little Lips."

The next talk with lantern will be views of London, England, with descriptions by a Londoner.
