THE WOODSTOCK SINGERS, coming soon in the Madonna College concert series, offer fare for a wide variety of musical tastes.

Mass In English Gets Approval Here

Masses entirely in English, heard in Roman Catholic churches in this area and elsewhere for the first time last Sunday, were described as "a great step forward," by the Very Rev. Eugene Van Antwerp, rector of St. John's Provincial Seminary.

"I'm sure the change is being received with great enthusiasm," Father Van Antwerp said. "For the first time, we can feel that all worshippers know just what is going on throughout the service."

The change came a little earlier than originally planned.

"The first English masses were to have been sung the first Sunday in Advent," the seminary head said, "and there were to have been five different variations approved for the central part of the mass, the canon.

The new mass in English is not just a word-for-word translation from the Latin, Father Van Antwerp added. The translation has been made into the idiom of English as spoken today.

For example, he pointed out, there is one place where the literal translation from the Latin would read: "We ask God to bless these gifts, these offerings, these holy sacrifices."

In the English form as sung Sunday, this portion reads: "We ask God to bless these gifts we offer in sacrifice."

Sisterhood Plans Sales

The Temple Beth Am Sisterhood will sponsor a rummage sale Thursday, Nov. 2, from 1 to 8 p.m. and Friday, Nov. 3, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Bernard Zupmore, 32201 Oakley, Livonia.

Discussion Group Starts

A new discussion group to consider significant current books and exchange ideas will meet monthly at North Congregational Church, with the first session scheduled from 6 to 8 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 29.

The series will begin with a review by Mrs. George Montross of the novel "Those Who Love," by Irving Stone. The church is located at 26275 Northwestern Highway, Southfield.

Beth Am Consecrates Children

The kindergarten children of Temple Beth Am will be consecrated to the Torah as the temple celebrates Simchat Torah at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Simchat Torah is a joyous holiday marking the end of the annual Torah cycle, and its main feature is the Procession of the Scrolls.

All the children of the congregation are given flags with apples on top, and they march singing behind the rabbi and men of the congregation who carry the Torah, the central object of Jewish activity and learning.

The ceremony of consecration symbolically begins a child's formal Jewish education. Each child will be blessed by Rabbi David Jessel and given a pin to commemorate the occasion.

Madonna Presents Woodstock Singers

Music from Bach to the Beatles will be heard Sunday when the Woodstock Singers perform in a concert sponsored by Madonna College at 8 p.m. in Ladywood High School.

The concert is the third in the college's culture series.

The Woodstock Singers are ten student-priests of the Society of Jesus who completing their training in theology at Woodstock College, started singing at informal get-together "just for the fun of it."

Encouraged to perform publicly, they sang in Baltimore, Philadelphia, Washington, and New York; made several television appearances, including the Ed Sullivan show and cut an album for Columbia Record entitled, "You'll Never Be Younger."

They like to sing for young audiences, since their repertoire includes songs like "Impossible Dream," "Snoopy vs. the Red Baron," "Georgy Girl," "Yesterday," "Sounds of Silence," and "This Land is Your Land."

The Woodstock Singers aim at a wide variety of styles, having chosen music which is neither religious nor solely secular.

The members include Robert Bolanos, S.J.; Anthony Capizzi, S.J.; Joseph Daoust, S.J.; Joseph Delclos, S. J.; Kenneth DeLuca, S.J.; George Gilmore, S.J.; John LaBonte, S.J.; Gaspar LoBiondo, S.J.; Peter Matthews, S.J.; and Patrick McDermott, S.J.

They have graduate degrees in the physical or social sciences, literature or philosophy; and most have taught for several years in Jesuit high schools.
