

Jessie Woodrow Wilson Becomes Bride of Francis Bowes Sayre

Francis Sayre.

Future Home of the Sayres.
East Room of White House.

Mrs. F. B. Sayre.

Washington, Nov. 25.—In the beautiful east room of the White House at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon Jessie Woodrow Wilson, second daughter of the president, was made the wife of Francis Bowes Sayre, Rev. Sylvester Beach of Princeton, N. J., performed the ceremony.

The entire affair was very simple, as had been requested by the bride, and the number of guests was rather small—dramatically so to many persons in official and social circles of Washington who had expected to receive invitations but were disappointed.

Miss Margaret Woodrow Wilson, eldest of the bride's daughters, acted as maid of honor to her sister, and Miss Eleanor Randolph Wilson, the youngest, was one of the bridesmaids. The three other bridesmaids were Miss Adeline Mitchell Scott of Princeton, daughter of Prof. William B. Scott; Miss Marjorie Brown of Annapolis, Pa., daughter of Mrs. William's sister, Col. E. T. Brown; and Miss G. White of Baltimore, a college friend of the bride.

Dr. Grenfell is Best Man. Mr. Sayre was attended by his best man, Dr. William F. Grenfell, the famous medical missionary to the fishermen of the Labrador coast. The two men have long been fast friends and Mr. Sayre spent two summers helping Dr. Grenfell with his work. The ushers were Charles E. Hughes, Jr., son of Justice Hughes of the Supreme court and a classmate of Mr. Sayre in the Harvard law school; Dr. Gilbert Horak of Montclair, N. J., who was a classmate at Williams College in 1909 and now of Johns Hopkins University; Benjamin Burton of New York city, and Dr. Scoville Clark of Salem, Mass., who was Mr. Sayre's companion in Labrador and Newfoundland.

Wedding Gown of Ivory Satin. The bride's gown was of satin, of a soft ivory tint, trimmed with beautiful lace, both old and new. It was made in New York and the two men connoisseurs declared that it was a masterpiece. The lingerie in the trousseau is of the most delicate material and is all hand made. The many of honor and bridesmaids were beautifully gowned and all looked their best.

Coming right in the midst of the chrysanthemum season, this was made a chrysanthemum wedding. The flowers were used most profusely in adorning the White House. As the bride's favorite color is mauve, that was made the prevailing color in the decorations. The east room, in which the ceremony was held, was decorated all the rooms in the president's mansion, were beautiful indeed.

Depart on Their Honeymoon. After the ceremony was completed and the couple had received the congratulations of the guests, the bridesmaids were served, and then Mr. and Mrs. Sayre departed for their honeymoon. Their trip includes a visit to the home of Mr. Sayre's aunt, at Windsor Forge, near Churchtown, Pa., where they first met. After January 1 they will live in Williams town, Mass., for Mr. Sayre is to accept the position of director of the Electric Light Commission in New York and become assistant to Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College.

Real Test of Sympathy. Anybody can sympathize with the sufferings of a friend, but it requires a very fine nature to sympathize with the nature of a friend's sufferings. It is to sympathize with a friend's sufferings and to share them.

Musical Item. An "edible" concert without music in his soul is singing out how many nalls a bass drummer could drive

JESSIE'S WEDDING CAKE.

Jessie Wilson's wedding cake was a triumph of the pastry cook's art. It was two and a half feet tall, counting the white orchids that were placed on top of it, and weighed 135 pounds. The first layer was four inches thick and 22 inches across. The cake contained 19 ingredients and its cost was about $500. Over the body of the cake was molded a thick white icing scroll work, on its top was a design for the initials of the bride and groom, done in silver, and around the sides were little of the valley in white sugar. This delicious confection was distributed in 2,000 dainty white boxes tied with satin ribbon and each box was proposed to go under the pillow of the recipient to bring dreams.

There was one disappointment for those who attended the wedding, for the gifts were not put on display. It is known that these included many beautiful and valuable articles sent by relatives and personal friends of the bride and groom and of their families and by admirers of President Wilson. Handsome presents were sent by both the senate and the house, that of the latter being a diamond necklace which Miss Genevieve Clark, daughter of the speaker, bought for the representatives in New York.

Guests Limited to 400. Those who were invited to witness the wedding were mostly personal friends and the number was kept down close to four hundred. The list was pared and revised several times, and as has been said, the operation resulted in many heartburnings. From the house of representatives' circle, for instance, the only guests were Speaker Champ Clark, Mrs. Clark and Miss Genevieve Clark, Marjorie Lester Underwood and Mrs. Underwood, and Minority Leader Mann and Mrs. Mann.

As might be expected, the streets outside the White House were as crowded as the police would permit, and the arrival and departure of the guests and trying to obtain through the windows a glimpse of the doings within. The police arrangements were admirable and nothing happened, in the White House or outside, to mar the happy occasion.

The wedding of Mr. Sayre and Miss Wilson was the thirteenth to be celebrated in the White House, but the bride has always considered 13 her lucky number instead of a hoodoo. There have been more than twenty weddings in which either the bride or groom resided in the White House, and the last wedding ceremony performed there was the one which united Alice Roosevelt and Nicholas Longworth. Today's event was much quieter than that and the guests not nearly so numerous.

Mrs. Sayre a Social Worker. Mrs. Sayre was born in Galenville, Pa., twenty-five years ago. She attended the Williams College in Princeton, Mass., and was an honor member of the class of 1908, being also elected a member of Phi Beta Kappa. For two years after her graduation she engaged in settlement work in Kensington, Pa., and she is a member of the executive board of the National Young Woman's Christian association. She has delivered several excellent addresses in public.

In appearance she does not resemble her father as much as she resembles her mother, the features of her mother's family, the Axons. She is an accomplished swimmer, rider and tennis player and also something of an actress.

Something About the Groom. Francis Bowes Sayre is twenty-eight years old, and was born at South Bethlehem, Pa., a son of the late Robert Heysham Sayre, who built the Lehigh Valley railroad and the one time was assistant to the president of the Bethlehem iron works, since known as the Bethlehem steel works. He was also once president of the board of trustees of the Lehigh university.

Francis Bowes Sayre graduated from Lawrenceville school, Lawrenceville, N. J., in 1904, and from Williams college in 1908. He entered Harvard law school and graduated "cum laude." He was a member of the Sigma Phi fraternity, Gargoyle society and the Phi Beta Kappa at Williams. For the past year he has been working in the office of District Attorney Whitman of New York. During the summer he was admitted to the bar of New York state.

Mr. Sayre's mother is Mrs. Martha Flaxey Sayre, daughter of the late William Nevins, who was president of Franklin and Marshall college at Lancaster, Pa. She is a descendant of Hugh Williamson of North Carolina, one of the framers of the Constitution of the United States, and is a sister of the late Robert Nevins, head of the American church at Rome, and a cousin of Ethelbert Nevins, the composer.

Other White House Weddings. The wedding of Jessie Wilson and Francis Sayre was the thirteenth to be celebrated in the White House. The first was that of Anna Todd, a niece of Dolly Madison's first husband, and John C. Jackson. Then Mrs. Madison's sister, Lucy, was married to Judge Todd of Kentucky. The third wedding, that of Maria Monroe, daughter of President Monroe, to Samuel Lawrence Goodrich in 1830 marked the first social use of the east room.

Eight years later John, the second son of President John Quincy Adams, married his cousin, Mary Helen, in the blue room. White General Jackson was president there were three weddings in the White House, those of Della Lewis to Alphonse Joseph Veyr Pagot of the French legation; Mary Ellen to Lucien B. Polk, and Mary Martin to Louis Randolph. Mary's parents passed before there was another marriage ceremony in the president's mansion, the next being of Nellie, the only daughter of General Jackson, and Alphonse G. P. Sartorius.

In 1876 Emily Platt, a niece of Mrs. Hayes, was married in the blue room to Gen. Russell Hastings. The eleventh of this series of weddings was that of President Cleveland to Frances Polson, and the twelfth that of President Roosevelt's daughter Alice, to Nicholas Longworth.

Mizpah. The word Mizpah or Mizpah, is Hebrew and means "Watch Tower." For example, see Genesis 31:49, where we read, "And Mizpah, for he said, the Lord watch between me and thee, when we are absent one from another." Additional light on the subject you may look at Judges 10:17; 11:11; 20:1. Also 1 Samuel 7:5; 10:17.

Longest British Tunnel. The longest British tunnel is the Great Ouse tunnel, which is 1,100 feet long.

When Mending Umbrellas. Take a small piece of black stick plaster and stick it under the hole inside and let it dry. This is better than darning, as it closes the hole nearer without stitching.

Women as a Power. "If ever the time comes when women shall come together simply and purely for the benefit of mankind, it will be a great day for the world."

This Will Interest Mothers.
Mother may find that the Children's Relief Tablets, Headache, Bad Stomach, Night Cries, which appear over our entire face. It started as a small pimple. I scratched it open and the contents of this small pimple ran down my face. Wherever this ran a new sore appeared. They itched and burned terribly; I couldn't touch my face. It turned so. It disfigured my face terribly and I couldn't be seen for everyone was afraid of it. It looked like a disease of some kind; it was all red and a heavy white crust on it. Everybody kept out of my way, afraid it would spread. I lost rest at night and I couldn't bear to have anything touch my face, not even the pillow. I had to lie on the back of the head. I was always glad when morning came so I could get up. It was extremely painful.

810 East Elm St., Streator, Ill.—"A running sore broke out above my right eye, which spread over my entire face. It started as a small pimple. The Lost Chord. "It's curious," said Brown, "how coming events cast their shadows before them. I'll wager a drier none of you gentlemen can guess what was the last thing played on the organ at the time of the fire."

"The 'Lost Chord,'" suggested Smith.

Brown shook his head. "That's true," said the classical gentleman.

Brown shook his head again. "What was it, then?" asked the practical member.

Brown again reached for his hat, and went to the door. Then he replied: "The hose!"

Poor Charities.

There are charity societies, as all the world knows, that only give to the poor a sign of their sympathy. Every dollar they take in, most of their subscriptions going for salaries to officers and investigators for expensive rentals, etc.

Richard March, the charity expert of Denver, Colo., was condemning these charities. He said: "A man's wife shouted up to him the other day: 'Don't you think this blue overcoat with the strapped-in back is too new and fashionable, George, to give away?'"

"It's the agent of the Alpha Incorporated. Charities that's at the door, isn't it?"

"Yes, dear."

"Then let the coat go," said George. "I'll be old enough and old-fashioned enough before I get to the poor dub that is shivering for it now."

FULLY NOURISHED.
Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.

It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements for both brain and body in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon."

"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit, in season, for the noon meal, and I find at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished."

"Nerve and brain power and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I had improved are now using Grape-Nuts."

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, is fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."
