Police Unity Aim Of County Agency

Effective coordination of law enforcement units in Wayne County during riots or disaster control is the aim of a Wayne County Sheriff's staff committee report recently released.

The report is being studied by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, Sheriff Peter L. Buback and the county medical examiner committee.

It specifies need for a standing force of 250 men under the command of Buback and describes various circumstances under which other men will be used.

Uniform training for personnel of all police and Sheriff's departments would include equipment and ammunition orientation, practical demonstration and squad training, and riot and crowd control exercises.

CONTROL PLANS would be implemented to include: A fully developed communications network, isolation of affected areas, utilization of fire and public utility forces, enlistment of public utilities, ambulance services and hospitals, assistance to injured and homeless, ample quarters for detention of lawbreakers, cooperation with prosecuting officials and courts -- and appropriate legislation to enable imposition of curfews and restrictions by local officials.

The Sheriff's staff committee is still researching and evaluating means of accomplishing these objectives.

Under the suggested plan the Sheriff's road patrol command officer would be notified by the department in the locality affected.

A Sheriff's command officer would then be dispatched to the area to evaluate the situation. Other community departments in the task force would be then advised of one of several intensities of procedure.

EITHER FULL committed strength of the county-wide task force, more or less, depending on the type and magnitude of the emergency, would proceed into action according to pre-arranged guidelines -- always under supreme command of the Sheriff.

Attempts are being made to secure Federal Communications Commission authority to establish a task force communications channel.

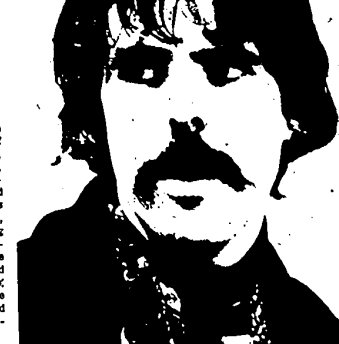

Use of this channel and then relay to other mobilized men along existing department channels will originate at a mobile field unit stationed in the disaster area.

It will be the nerve center under the Sheriff's command, assisted by the local chief and state police.

PROCEDURE in major disorders and riots, such as those in Detroit last July which prompted the staff study, will be followed up by notification of state police to advise the governor, when deemed necessary.

Adjoining county Sheriff's and the Michigan Sheriff's Association could be advised and asked for help, also.

Mall Sets Show Of Max Posters

Posters have become the biggest thing in the art world, and one of the biggest artists in the poster world will be in Livonia this Saturday.

Peter Max, internationally known poster artist from New York, will be appearing in person at the Livonia Mall from noon to 1:30 p.m. to personally sell and autograph his posters.

The event is being held outside, just opposite from Kresge's in the Mall. Proceeds from the sale of posters will be shared between Max and the Metropolitan Critical Areas Project, a voluntary group funded partially by the federal government, which operates under the auspices of Campfire Girls, Inc.

Max, whose work extends from posters to oil paintings and ceramic designs, is in the mainstream of pop-psychodelic art. He lives in New York, and has exhibited abroad.

Produced in many colors by lithography, Max's posters and others like them have been featured in several national news magazines as an effective aid to home decorating.
