Page 2B(F)

Township Position Has Logical Basis

There is a certain amount of logic to the township's stand that it wants to explore more than one possibility before setting or just who should conduct the proposed area wide study of governmental alternatives. We believe that when the township offi offi

ın's Most Exciting Gift Shop

OFF

OUR USUAL CUSTOM CONTINUES THIS YEAR 1%

ON ALL

Christmas Merchandise

(Except Loose Christmas Counter Cards)

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 26th

THRU

6

EXTRA LONG HAIR SETS ANY STYLE! (Tell US)

CLIP THIS COUPON

PERMANENT $800

CLIP THIS COUPON

FROSTING & TIPPING

CLIP THIS COUPON School Girl Special...

COLD Tinted or Bleached $949 Hair Included WAVE Reg. (2 Persons $20.00 for $15.00)

MANICURING • WE DO COMBOUTS ANYTIME •
 "Equally Sensational Values from $15 to $50"

and Moms too

BRECK Special

tos treatment, cut, styled, set, rous comtoout and color rose.

 $\mathbf{\tilde{z}}$

cials complete their search, they will come to the conclusion that the Michigan State University proposal is the best available. While the Future Farmington Area Study Committee admits that MSU is the only group that it talked to "seriously" about con-ducting a study, it must be noted that MSU was also the only organization which showed any interest in the project.

TOWNSHIP OFFICIALS, however, haven't discovered this fact for themselves.

This lack of knowledge is their own fault since from the very beginning they have re-fused to become too involved with the activ-ties of the study committee. While Township Trustee Thomas Nolan has been present at most of the committee sessions, he has gone to great pains to remind everyone that he is serving in an "unofficial" capacity and could not speak for the board. On the other hand, delegates from the city council and the councils of the Village of Quakertown and the Village of Wood Creek Farms have worked with the committee. The end result is that the channels of communication have been somewhal less cluttered with static with the city and vil-lages than has been the case with the lines to township hall.

to township hall. The township officials are not being

It was not only tactical error. The only result was to make the township hall politicians so angry that they didn't worry about their image when they balked.

Seasons Greetings

A GIVE A WAY

HAIR CUT $100

Mon. Nyu Set DAYS ONLY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This modern day version if "The Night Before Christmas" comes from an advanced English Class in Farmington's Cast Junior High with an assist from "an un-nown mother."

known mother.¹¹ The Big Night... 1967 It's the night before Christmas and all through our sub Intermittently lit... to the very last shrub. The Yule logs are glowing, while on color TV's Not a program is stirring not even Steve Reeves. Among glass wax Picasso's, the rivalry's keen On one picture window—a mod manger scence? Fishnets are hung on the mantle with tacks (Can't hang mine—they have too to heel holes.)

(can't hang initia—they have too to income holes.)
 And we have left Santa some big piles of STAX.
 "Now clean up that mess, you must go to bed."
 "O.K., Mother dear, can we crack nuts instead?"
 Momma in hair rollers and dad feeling good
 Tonight he's acclaiming the whole neighborhood.
 (Annually this is temporary and subsides as the first bills roll in.)

Then what to my wondering bare feet should appear But a little lost tack and a broken reindeer. Vith a bandaged left toe. I jump in the sack, Just as the old man sneaks in with a snack. Don't tell your mother, she says you'll get fat-(So I shouldn't get a guilt conscience, we share the pitta)

(So I shouldn't get a guilt conscience, we share the pizza)
Pop eats his food slowly; he knows what transpires All the things ma does, before she retires.
There's Debbie Drake time and oil of the turtle, Massage a wee bump, then rinse out a girdle While Cleo's "Preserving," we peek at our pine No Christmasy smell; it's metallic design.
The old decorations went out with the trash It's not savant garde-to mix colors that clash.
We all read the Good Book, then snuggle in bed While visions of motor bikes race through my hebd...
DREAM...in wide screen PIZZAVISION

hebd DREAM—in wide screen PIZZAVISION Hey—I'm all gold fluorescent! Big neon lights proclaim King Adolescent I give orders to Nassar and Möshe Dayan Abolish the missile, rebuild Frandustan. In my mythical kingdom—no titles, no brass. No wars or oppression, my people FIRST CLASS.

FIRST CLASS. WE SPEAK not a word, but go straight to the tree To see what "he got that she didn't get me." Most of my loot, I've already appraised. Of course, if I have to, I can look amazed. Mom gets pajamas, a wooden block head; The wig that goes with it looks like it's dead. Pop has those Hagens, he saw at the store, See Father PUTT, PUTTING—all over the floor.

floor. Sis in her room, now she has her own phone Confiding deep secrets—in hushed monotone. (Who's new in pierced ears? . . .)

Home On Leave

Pvt, Timothy A. Day, son of the Nicholas L. Days, of Gill Rd., Farmington, is home on leave following basic and eight weeks advanced training eight weeks advanced training at Fort Knox, Ky, A graduate of Our Lady of Sorrows, Prt. Day is assigned to the armored tank division and will report for duty in Germany at the end of his leave.

33330 8 MILE ROAD

We take this opportunity to thank you for your patronage. It has been a pleasure to serve you!

FARMUNGTON White House Valet

Phil, somewhere in space, with disintegrator, Chocolate ants and allive alligator. As mother surveys this wall to wall joy, "I'd give it all up-tol bring back ONE boy. Let's all bow our heads and pray for world peace May LOVE overcome, may hostilities cease." The sweet child-like ange on top of our tree Smiled down on us so benevolently. Embracing with light, our nativity scene Her voice low and clear, yet softly scene.

"Fear not, as it was in the beginning, it shall be again. God's LOVE will live ETERNAL, in the hearts of ALL men!"

Merlo Found Guilty

A madatory sensions that he spend the rest of his natural time behind bars a waits John wer to following his conviction of first degree murder for the slaying of his 18-year-old wite n a Farmington Township beauty shop last January. He is now 25. When you of seven women and firme mer returned its ver-dict to Circuit Judge Farrell E., Roberts in Pontiac shortly before noon Wednesday. Judge Roberts set Jan. 24 before noon wednesday. Judge Roberts set Jan. 24 as the date for sentencing, but under Michigan law first degree murder offers no aller-native to life imprisonment.

AN INDIVIDUAL poll of jur-ors after their verdict hadbeen announced reaffirmed their un-animity, and the slightly built Merio listened without any show

We is well in the starter of the sta His wife, Sharon Ann, of 19340