Nurses Aides At Work

Twelve Farmington girls have running head starts towards careers in nursing should they decide that is their goal.

The 12 are participants in the school district's nursing arts program, launched last summer by the vocational education department.

After careful screening, the girls took two weeks of daily four-hour classes taught by Mrs. Dolores Ort, R.N., of Walled Lake.

This was followed by 40 hours of internship at a local hospital before assignment to actual duties.

After 500 hours spent in internship, the dozen will receive certificates.

These dedicated teenagers have learned the care of patients before and after surgery, how to move them to stretchers and the checking of blood pressures and temperatures.

They can give bed baths and are learning all types of patient care not reserved to licensed personnel.

The 12 are presently dispersed at three area institutions, Boksford General and St. Mary Hospital and the Heritage of Beverly Hills Nursing Home.

Taylor Trains

Marine Private Peter L. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Taylor of 2630 Dundalk, Farmington, has completed two weeks of training under simulated combat conditions in the fundamentals of day and night patrolling, employment of infantry weapons, survival methods and assault tactics at the Marine Corps base at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

In Viet Action

Army Specialist Four Gregory J. Nettie, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Nettie, 3218 Grand River Ave., Farmington, is taking part in "Operation Quicksilver" with the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment in Vietnam.

HELPING HAND -- An assist to the dining room is given a resident at Heritage of Beverly Hills Nursing Home by Barbara Peek. This is one of Barbara's duties as a nurse's aide, a skill she is learning under the nursing arts program in Farmington schools.

Cotton Receives $500 Grant

J. Kingsley Cotton III, son of Farmington schools athletic director Jack Cotton and Mrs. Cotton, 33318 Oakland, Farmington, has been awarded a $500 Newspaper Fund Inc. summer intern scholarship. The fund is sponsored by the Wall Street Journal.

Cotton, a junior at Albion College, is a psychology and English major and sports editor of the Albion student newspaper. He is a member of Sigma Nu. When a student at Farmington High School, the award-winner wrote a play, "Get Yourself a College, Boy," which was produced as the student play for that year.

Cotton will be awarded the scholarship next September after he spends 10 weeks this summer as a cub reporter on a newspaper. The Newspaper Fund provides the interns with the names of newspapers which cooperate in the program. Students apply directly to these newspapers. Cotton has yet to choose the paper at which he will apply for a job.
