WORLD OF WOMEN

Area Girls Compete

State Junior Miss Contest

Several winners of local Junior Miss contests in this area will be participating in the 1968 Michigan Junior Miss Pageant, set for Jan. 27 and 28 in Pontiac.

Area girls competing include: Redford's Junior Miss, Christine Collier; Redford Union High School; Garden City's Junior Miss, Deborah Mathis; Garden City East High School; Westland's Junior Miss, Linda Wagner; Wayne Memorial High School; and Northville's Junior Miss, Pamela Smith, Northville High School.

A total of $5,300 in scholarships and awards will be presented during the pageant. The winner will be crowned by Kathleen Fliss, 1967 Michigan Junior Miss, and will receive $1,625 in scholarship awards plus an all-expense paid trip to Mobile, Ala., for the national pageant.

The Michigan pageant is sponsored by the Pontiac Jaycees.

Physical fitness, talent and poise and appearance in evening dress will be judged before the public by a panel consisting of David Bishop, managing director, John Fernald Company of Meadowbrook Theatre, Oakland University; Fred W. Shadrick, dean of admissions, University of Detroit; Patrick J. Duggan, 1967-68 Michigan Jaycee president; Patrice Gaudier, America's Junior Miss of 1965 from Stevensville, Mich.; E. Ray Scott, executive director of the Michigan State Council for the Arts; and Aimee Lambie May, social science instructor, Oakland Community College. Scholastic ability, mental alertness and personality will be judged in personal interviews during pageant week.

National sponsors of the pageant are John H. Breck Co., Chevrolet Motor Division, General Motors Corp., Eastman Kodak Co. and Scott Paper Co. Along with the pageant, Scott Paper Co. is sponsoring a hostess award and John H. Breck Co. is sponsoring a hairstyling award with scholarship and merchandise prizes.

The Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon performances and the Saturday evening preliminary performances and the Sunday afternoon final performance are available at the door.

Madonna To Introduce Med Tech Curriculum

Madonna College has received approval of its proposed new program in the field of medical technology. The curriculum, to be introduced at the college next fall, will combine a major in bio-chemistry with a medical technology certification.

In concurring with the recommendation of the Board of Schools of Medical Technology (ASCP), the Council on Medical Education of the American Medical Association announced that the school of medical technology at St. Mary Hospital-Madonna College be approved "as an exception to the present AMA Essentials". The disclosure was made by Dr. Ralph Kuhl, MPH, Director of the Department of Allied Medical Professions and Services, AMA, Chicago.

Acting coordinator of the program was Sister Mary Joella, CSSF, former professor of chemistry and current institutional research director at the college.

Collaborating in planning the revised program were Dr. Donald R. Brock, M.D., M.S., pathologist and director of clinical laboratory and of medical technology at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia; Sister Mary Modesta, CSSF, R.N., M.T., laboratory supervisor and educational coordinator at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia; and Sister Mary Dennis, CSSF, Ph.D., chemistry department head and current chairman of the medical technology program at Madonna College.

Under the new program the first two years will concentrate on academic studies alone; the last two years will consist of cooperative clinical experience gained at any approved hospital

Offers Summer '68 Scholarships

YPSILANTI—Summer session scholarships based on superior academic records rather than financial need will be available to 1968 high school graduates, Ralph F. Gilden, dean of admissions and financial aids at Eastern Michigan University, announced.

Known as "president's scholarships," they will cover room, board, tuition and fees for a six-week session. Any student with a 3.5 (B-plus) or better grade point average will be eligible to apply.

Students who complete the 1968 summer session with records of 2.5 (C-plus) or better will receive automatically a Board of Regents scholarship beginning with the fall semester. These scholarships, paying 60 per cent of tuition, may be renewed annually, provided the recipient continues to qualify.

For students with acute financial need, a financial aids "package" consisting of a scholarship, grant, loan and part-time campus employment will be available.

"Our purpose in offering the president's scholarships is to encourage graduates to superior high school records to commence their college careers during the summer," Gilden said.

JA Convention To Hear Former Miss America

Leading businessmen, educators and civic leaders will attend the banquet to recognize the efforts of teenage businessmen and women in the six-county area. Host for the affair will be James Schiavone, J.A. Week chairman and general manager, WWJ-TV, who announced the various events planned for the observance.

Another banquet, Feb. 2 at Cobo Hall, will precede the finals for the coveted titles, "Mr. Executive" and "Miss Achievement" of 1968. These are the highest honors a young businessman or woman can win in Junior Achievement. Immediately after the judges' decision, more than 1,000 Achievers will see their Miss J.A. crowned and then dance to the music of the popular Scott Richard Case combo at the Executive Ball.

Most of the 25 J.A. business centers throughout the area will hold open house and trade fairs the evenings of Jan. 22 - 23. Residents are invited to visit their community center and watch J.A. in action. Some J.A. companies also will display their wares at the Macomb Mall, Jan. 21 - 27, and at Westland Mall, Jan. 26 - 27. "It isn't genius, beauty, or luck—but hard, hard work—" that really matters in reaching any goal in life." This doesn't sound like the philosophy of a young woman who has attained national pinnacles for wholesome beauty and radiant personality.

But it's what Marilyn Van Derburg, United Air Lines youth speaker and a former Miss America, will tell more than 400 top executives of Junior Achievement at Southeastern Michigan at their annual President's Banquet. The dinner and program, Jan. 24, at the Statler Hilton Hotel, Detroit, is the first major event of J.A. Week, Jan. 22 - Feb. 2.
