At Manufacturers Bank we think he does. And in 1967 we made additional efforts to better serve each of our present customers and to attract new ones. Manufacturers' traditional friendly service was emphasized. New banking services were initiated. Like Unichex, the first complete bank account. And a new personal checking account that did away with service charges. And a data transmission service designed to help businessmen speed up their cash flow. The result was a rise in total resources from $1,631,232,609 to $1,817,549,224. But it really came as no surprise. Because long ago we learned that personal attention to each individual customer is the best way for a bank to grow and prosper.
