Symphony Extends Ehrling's Contract

Sixteen Ehrling's contract as music director and conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra has been extended through April, 1972.

Ehrling's contract was scheduled to expire in April 1970. He has held the post since December 1963.

Symphony President Robert F. Semple said that the symphony's executive committee unanimously agreed to extend Ehrling's tenure.

The president said Ehrling has "stimulated a fresh enthusiasm" for music in the area and that "we will be continually enriched through having a man of such stature."

Since Ehrling's appointment to the Detroit podium, the Orchestra has been expanded from 90 to 103 members, the average number of Symphony concerts each year has increased from 150 to more than 200, and the Symphony season has grown from 28 to 47 guaranteed weeks.

Paray Slates Concerts

Paul Paray, conductor emeritus of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, will return to Ford Auditorium to conduct a pair of Symphony subscription concerts on Thursday and Saturday, Feb. 22 and 24, at 8:00 p.m.

The performances will be the first of nine Paray will conduct while on a four-week visit to the Symphony.

He last appeared with the Orchestra in February and March, 1967.

The program for February 22 and 24 will feature Schubert's Symphony No. 9, C major ("The Great"); Dukas' "La Péri"; and Rimsky-Korsakov's Suite from "Shegourelchka."

Feb. 25, and a Windsor concert with the Detroit Symphony on March 10.

Paray's Detroit appearance follows his guest conducting engagement with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra. After his appearance here, he will lead the American Symphony Orchestra in concerts at Carnegie Hall, New York City.

Paray was conductor of the Detroit Symphony from 1951 to 1962. During that time, he conducted 204 subscription concerts which included 781 performances of individual works in addition to many more tour and special concerts.

Art Show Scheduled At N'land

Work in every art media will be featured Feb. 22-24 at Northland Center where more than 200 artists from throughout the metropolitan area will participate in an exhibit.

The show will be held in the Special Events Building at the center and will be open each evening until 9 p.m.

Included in the exhibit will be paintings, sculpture, handmade jewelry, hand-painted china, decoupage and i-coupage by professional, semi-professional and amateur artists and craftsmen.

The gallery is open Tuesday through Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m.

TALL PERFORMER -- "Lucky" is claimed to be the world's only giraffe broken to saddle, according to the German Krone circus. He is ridden by Fredy Knie.

New Cinema Techniques Featured In Institute Series

Exclusive showings of new Czechoslovak, American and Danish cinema, with the potent title "Film Power" will be offered in February, March and April by the Theatre Arts Department of the Detroit Institute of Arts at 8 p.m. in the museum auditorium.

Fresh from successes at international festivals and competitions, the films represent outstanding directors of the new generation. "Film Power" is part of a new concept in film presentation, sponsored by the Theatre Arts Department in association with New Line Cinema Corporation of New York.

The objective is to provide a channel for the finest in contemporary film-making for discriminating audiences.

ONE of the executives of New Line Cinema is Robert Shaye, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Max Shaye, reside in Franklin. Shaye is also a director of films, and his short "Image" will be on the March program.

Featured in the Feb. 22, 23 and 24 program will be "The End of August at the Hotel Ozone." This is a full-length dramatic film by Czechoslovakia's 33-year old director Jan Schmidt. A combination of science-fiction and allegory, it is a sample of life following an atomic World War III. No one remains except a band of eight savage young women and their matron-leader. Schmidt has given "Ozone" the spare style of a Kafka fable, presenting viewers with unadorned reality.

"Hotel Ozone" was recently presented to sell-out audiences in New York by Lincoln Center and The Museum of Modern Art during a Festival of New Czechoslovak Cinema. As a prelude to "Hotel Ozone," two new prize-winning short subjects, one from Denmark and the other from the U.S., will be shown:

"Summer War" offers a wry treatment of a reserve soldier on summer maneuvers. "Dodge City" presents terse images of children at playtime and people in death-pain.

Cumulatively, these films have been presented at the Edinburgh International Film Festival, the San Francisco International Film Festival, the Oberhausen International Film Festival, the Locarno International Film Festival and the Venice International Film Festival.

NONE of the films in the "Film Power" series have been shown in Detroit. The three film programs at the museum auditorium will allow filmgoers to see top quality cinema that they may be denied because of certain commercial considerations of regular film exhibitors and distributors.

The March 21, 22 and 23 "Film Power" presents the full-length "Martyrs of Love," by Czechoslovakian Jan Nemec. The film concerns the dreams and disillusionment of young people confronting the Establishment. The short films are "Homo Ludens" (Sweden - A.O. Karlund) and "Apprenticeship" (Czechoslovakia - Dusan Hanak).
