'Daffs' Dillies In Problem Spots

Who doesn't have a problem spot in the garden? Here is a suggestion on how to make that area a thing of beauty next spring — plant daffoilis this fail, Of all the spring-flowering bulbs, daffoilis are just about the most adaptable for planting in different locations. You can plant them in sun or stade. They are happy near water or on a rock ledge. They are perfect against a wall or you can cluster them in rough grass or beneath a tree or shrub, Interplant them among rock shrub.

Interplant them among rock garden plants or in the perennial border. Or, make an entire bed of daffodils alone.
FOR EACH problem spot in

FOR EACH problem spot in your garden you can choose a different kind or color of daffodil. Today, daffodlis come in delicate pinks and combinations, such as brighterange and the complex set off against lemonyellow or frosty white petals, as well as the traditional sunvellow.

OTHER EXCELLENT choices for the gardener planting a panorama of color next spring are the Tazetta and Poelicus daffodils.

Picture thick clusters of flowers on a single stem and you have the Tazettas, Poelicus daffodils have flowers with large white petals and ashallow cup that is edged brightly with orange or red.

All you do is plant daffodils six inches deep and six inches apart. Water them well after planting and let nature do the rest.

Thursday, March 14, and Friday, March 15 -- DR, MARTIN LUTHER KINC, Southern Christian Leadership Conference,
Atlanta, Georgia
(in response to our request for serimon titles, we received the following reply from Dr. King's secretary:)
"OP. King looks forward to his appearance in Detroit under the Council of Churches on March 14th and 15th. Regretfully, however, he finds that because of an unusually crowded schedule
it is not possible for him to send you this advance material prior to his arrival. Please know that Dr. King would be happy to do this, but he is so pressed for time during this particular period, that he has not had an opportunity to write outle sermons as yet. We trust that you will understand the dilemma he confronts at this point."

Monday, March 18 -- (Speaker to be announced later)
MUSIC: South Lake HighSchool Choir, St. Clair Shores, Michigan.

tian Unity, National Council of Churches - New York City Due to circumstances beyond our control, we do not as yet have the title of sermons for the two-days on which Rew, Bowman will spank: We trust it will be forthcoming soon, You will recall he was one of the speakers in the 1967 series and drew an over-flow crowd. We feel sure that the mere publicizing of his name, along with the excellent music of the choirs selected for those days, will again attract a good crowd and advance publicizing will insure this with your kind cooperation.
