The Green Thumb

By GEORGE ABRAHAM

STARTING OLIVES FROM SEED: The hallmark of a green thumb is to start olive plants from seeds. It's not easy, but it can be done. One reader writes: "Early in 1967, I placed four mammoth ripe olive pits in a plant box. A couple months later I noted two strange little plants coming up. They were dug up carefully, and I found that the olive pits still had roots attached. These were planted in pots, using 1/3 each of sand, potting soil, and now the plants are 6 inches tall, with several leaves, growing nicely."

While you may never have enough olives to eat from the plant, you will have a good indoor foliage plant. Keep the leaves washed off from time to time.

AFRICAN VIOLETS: Growers all tell you that an east window is the best for African Violets. This may be true but violets will grow in practically every window in the house. An east window is better because the sun reaches the plants early in the day when their energies are low (after hours of darkness).

The early morning sunshine probably acts as a booster to the plants and helps them along. Too much light will cause the foliage to have a yellow, bleached look. When plants are growing lopsided, it means one side is getting more light than the other.

Turn your plants regularly so that all parts will get the same amount of light and you'll have a better shaped plant.

COCOA BEAN SHELLS: How effective are they as a mulch? We like their looks around shrubs and evergreens. They contain about 92% organic matter, small amounts of nitrogen and potash. Some people use them on new lawns at the rate of 150 pounds per 1,000 sq. ft. But their main value is around trees, shrubs and in the flower border.

SHRUBS FOR WET SPOTS:

If you have a few wet spots and want something that will grow there, try Sweet Shrub, Clump Birch, pink spirea, Highbush cranberry, Pepper bush, Pussy Willow, silver maple, and weeping willow.

GREEN THUMB CLINT: A reader writes: We bought some dates in the store and wonder if we can start new plants from the seed?

Answer: Takes a long time for the hard seed to germinate, but they will. File the coat lightly to hasten germination. The date is a palm of the desert regions, which means it likes a lot of heat. You're won't bear in the home because you have to have a male and female tree. It's worth a try, however, and if you get seeds to grow you'll have a conversation piece.

Redford JCs Sponsor 'Y' Teen Dances

Two top-ranked bands and two dances are the dynamics in one phase of the Redford Jaycees' plans to help the Northwest YWCA in its campaign for building expansion funds.

To be held at Redford Union High School on Friday night, May 31 and June 7, the YWCA Expansion Fund Benefit Teen Dances will feature first and second place winners in the Detroit metropolitan area. The bands contest held recently, "The Outcry," first place winner, and "The Impact," second place, will both play for both dances.

According to Chris LaRue, 10044 Greendale, Jaycee dance chairman, there is a good chance the dancers will be entertained by the state champion band.

Y-Teens at Northwest YW,

Grand River and Beech-Daly Road, are making posters and working on publicity. Scheduled for 8 to 11 p.m., the admission is set at $1 per person.

THE GREEN THUMB — The Observer's Green Thumb, George (Doc) Abraham, gets a hand from a spray gun and from his wife, Katy, as he experiments in his greenhouse in Naples, N.Y., the better to solve the problems of Observerland gardeners.
