Meadow Brook Has Fair

It's fairly certain that anyone will find something to suit his fancy at Oakland University's first annual Meadow Brook Fair, which will be held June 14-15 on the festival grounds.

The fair will feature carnival rides for big and small, eight centers offering a wide selection of jazz, swing, pop, and rock, plus two troupes of ethnic dancers, and booths of unusual merchandise.

Something that Grandma's fair never had will be helicopter rides to take fairgoers soaring over the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion for a bird's-eye view of Meadow Brook Hall and the campus.

HOURS FOR THE fair will be noon to 11:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and noon to 9 p.m. on Sunday. General admission to the grounds will be free, as will admission to six of the eight concerts at the pavilion.

Food will be served at Trumbull Terrace, or fairgoers can bring their own picnic lunches. Trinkets and treasures will be sold under a striped awning outside Trumbull Terrace, along with other booths featuring porch and patio accessories, imported cheeses and gourmet foods, candles and soaps, home-baked goods, flowers and a booth filled with all things psychedelic.

Headlining the array of talent booked for the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion will be Count Basie and his Orchestra. They will perform at 8:30 p.m. Saturday, June 15.

On Friday, June 14, also at 8:30 p.m., pre-Dixieland music will be featured by the Billie and Dede Pierce Band from Preservation Hall in New Orleans. This was the band that performed recently on a Herb Alpert television special.

Friday also will see an afternoon concert at 4 p.m. featuring a clash of four hard-rock groups, The Plain Brown Wrapper from Lansing, The Rationals and The Thyme, both at Ann Arbor, and the Fabulous Pack from Flint.

Pianist, Singer Open Detroit Concert Series

Opening week at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's "Symphony Under the Stars" series will feature pianist Jan de Toth, soprano Gloria Dillard, and violinist Takako Nishizaki in their first appearances with the Orchestra.

Valter Poole will conduct the concert in the music shell at the Michigan State Fairgrounds on Tuesday, June 11 at 8:30 p.m. There will be performances each night except Mondays and Thursdays through June 23.

New this year for the audience's comfort will be risers, which allow the farthest seat to be only 50 yards away from the music shell.

The Wednesday, June 12 concert will be a special orchestral program comprised of Russian music. Some of the works featured will be Rimsky-Korsakov's "Scheherazade" and Tchaikovsky's "Marche Slave."

Detroit's Gloria Dillard will be heard on Friday, June 14. She will sing an aria from Massenet's "Le Cid" in her performance with the Symphony. Miss Dillard will also sing two Negro art songs, accompanied by Lawrence LaGore at the piano.

MISS de TOth will perform the Liszt Piano Concerto No. 1 at the opening concert on Tuesday. After many successful European appearances, she is now gaining recognition here in her native land.

ON SATURDAY, June 15, Miss Nishizaki will be featured with the orchestra in Mozart's Violin Concerto No. 5 and Saint-Saens' Introduction & Rondo Capriccioso. A 1964 Leventritt Competition finalist, she has performed with other American orchestras and in recitals at colleges and museums throughout the United States.

The program of Sunday, June 16 is orchestral, and will include favorite classics and a popular selection from "Fiddler on the Roof."

The free-admission Fairgrounds concerts are sponsored by the Detroit Edison Co., the Michigan State Fair Authority, and the Music Performance Trust Funds of the Recording Industries in conjunction with the Detroit Federation of Musicians.
