

GM Attacks Driver Gap In Building Safer Cars

WARREN, -- As technical director at General Motors Styling, Dr. Peter Kyropoulos is in charge of that organization's Safety and Human Performance Group.

"This phase of our work at Styling," he explained, "is concerned with man's relationship to the car or truck's driving, and how the man and vehicle relate to the road... (When I say 'man and vehicle', of course I mean to include women as well.)"

Dr. Kyropoulos explained that while it is possible to chart and predict the performance of an engine or transmission, "we don't know nearly as much about the human system and its capabilities."

OUTLINING several of GM Styling's Safety and Human Performance activities, Dr. Kyropoulos said, "One of our continuing efforts is to minimize the chance for human error in the operation of the car or truck. This involves, among other things, the simplification of controls -- where they are located and how they are marked."

"We are seeking more acceptable and less complicated ways of keeping people in their seats than the restraint systems we have today," he continued.

"We are also looking into even more comfortable seating, and what more can be done to improve the driver's seeing ability."

All of these factors have a bearing on fatigue, he pointed out, and fatigue is known to be a contributing cause of accidents.

"TO HELP OUR staff find the answers to these and other questions," Dr. Kyropoulos explained, "we often call in consultants in such related fields as orthopaedics, pediatrics, obstetrics and gynecology, ophthalmology, biomechanics and psychology."

Paint Pine Panels

Easiest way to refinish yellowed knotty pine paneling is with a coat of paint.

Painted paneling has been a favorite wall surface for generations, and it can be glazed if an antiqued appearance is desired.

Skunks are docile creatures. Many live a lifetime without releasing the musk they depend upon for protection.

Vinegar Removes

Copper Tarnish

To remove tarnish from brass or copper, sprinkle on salt and a little vinegar or lemon juice. Rub, rinse and dry. If a soft luster is desired, use a thin paste made from rottenstone and cooking or salad oil. Wipe off excess oil and polish with a clean cloth.
