Farm Prospects Bright For 1951

Farmers, recovering from what economists termed the "profit squeeze" years of 1948-49, are at present digesting many forecasts of fairly prosperous years ahead. What's in the picture for the Michigan farmer in 1951? The following conclusions are summarized from this year's outlook issue of Michigan Farm Economics as prepared by agricultural economists at Michigan State College. The monthly publication is an M. S. C. Extension service feature.

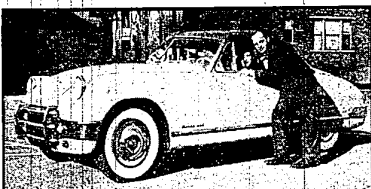

As "mild" irrigation continues, net farm earnings will rise above the levels of 1950. Wise farm management will accomplish this through full and even expanded production as farm product prices rise. Plans should include putting the farm business in shape to operate in high gear, not only in 1951 but for several years. The increase in farm prices in the year ahead is expected to average 10 to 15 percent above the average for the first half of 1950.

There'll be troublesome changes, too. Farm expenses will rise 5 to 8 percent over the 1950 level. Labor will become more scarce, and decisions on what to produce or what to buy will be more important in determining a profit or loss.

Some specific suggestions by MSC agricultural economists include:

1. Buying or renting additional land if needed to increase size of operations will generally be good business.
2. Cash crops, on farms where they fit, will have an advantage price-wise over livestock, but on most general farms it will be best to maintain a good livestock herd. Cattle and hogs will be in a stronger position than dairy and poultry.
3. Consider new outlays for machinery and improvements.

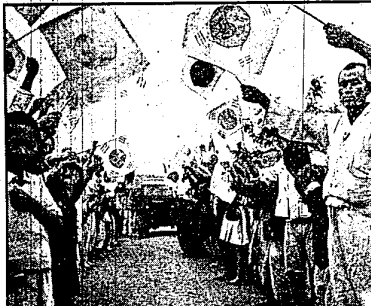

Pictorial News Review

AFTER MUNTZ OF PLANNING—The Muntz automobile, a $5500 luxury car featuring an aluminum body, 160 hp Cadillac engine and hydromatic transmission, will be assembled in Chicago with tool-and-die purchased from Kurtz-Kraft, Inc. announced TV set manufacturer Earl Muntz recently. Shown with his newly developed "Vet" model, Muntz says his car has been clocked on the Utah salt flats at 142 mph.

SPEECH STUMPS SMALL FRY—When Sen. Scott Lucas, campaigning for reelection on the democratic ticket, spoke at Watseka, Ill. one listener in the courthouse audience apparently had trouble following the theme of the senator's speech. And so the cordwainer-clad youngster sauntered down the aisle to stand at the rail where he could pay closer attention.

HAIL THE CONQUERING HEROES—Citizens of the west coast North Korean city of Chongpyong lined up along this town to welcome South Korean troops who rolled through the town on their way to Pyongyang, the captured North Korean capital.

LIFE AND DEATH—Critically wounded by UN forces mopping up on the outskirts of Pyongyang, the fallen red capital, a Communist soldier lies on the hood of this jeep. Sitting in the jeep, an unidentified British soldier shields a North Korean baby from the grim sight before him.

ROLLING DOWN THE RIVER

By Bob Kettler

No matter how good or how lousy the administration of the next Governor of the state may be, 50% of the state will be able to say, "I told you so." Judging from one of the referendums that proved overwhelmingly popular either candidate, could have swamped the other. Had he the foresight to tour the state in a new Studebaker, painted a bright yellow.

This is the time of year we feel we should warn the young swain that even though his girl tells him she gets her good looks from her father, he shouldn't jump to the conclusion that her old man owns a drug store.

We hope you haven't become too impatient waiting for the thirty one for '51, meaning the 1951 Studebaker, of course. It's here now and boy, was it worth waiting for. New beauty, new power and so doggedly economical that the fellow at your favorite gas station is going to think you don't like him any more. Come on in and see it, we'll be glad to meet you.

Friend of ours who drives a large fire Studebaker Land Cruiser and services it at regular intervals, was in the garage the other day. Told us of their maid, who recently lost her husband. About two weeks after the funeral our friend noticed a fellow waiting for the maid to get off work. Somewhat nettled, he asked, "How about it, Nancy, here's a fellow waiting for you, and your husband dead but a couple of weeks."

"That's just it, boss," said the maid. "It's William that's dead, not me."

We hope that this brisk weather didn't catch too many of you unprepared, but there's more in getting a car ready for winter than an emergency dash to the filling station for anti-freeze when the thermometer takes that plunge. Why not be absolutely sure that the old transportation system is at its best by having our experts give it a motor tune-up and complete winter lubrication. You'll be glad you did.

We don't know how you feel about it, but to us the best part of the whole election is watching the television commentator, whose candidate is losing, give out with the morbid (to him) results.

Yours,

BOB KETTLER
