secret of the fact that he would like to be summoned to the White House. When other Republicans, Senators Wherry and Wiley, return from presidential conferences, Taft has queried them like a cub reporter or afraid of getting scooped. And when he heard that the White House might call him in last week, Taft was like a schoolboy about to go to her first prom. He even offered to cancel a trip to Yale, where he is a member of the board of trustees.

But the President, who has a personal prejudice against Taft, would not invite him. PEARSON PREDICTION Another illustration of presidential peevishness which upsets his own apparent was the proposed loyalty review board, composed of Judge John F. Parker of North Carolina, Justice John Patrick Higgins of Massachusetts, and Adm. Chester Nimitz. White House advisers had sold the President on appointing this board to supervise the Tydings committee for the purpose of thoroughly examining the question of communism in the state department.

A nonpartisan board of judges, it was argued, would lift the question of state department loyalty out of partisan politics and give a categorical answer to Senator McCarthy. The President, at first, was all for it.

Then this commentator predicted that the board would be appointed. Immediately the President got peevish. He was not, he made it clear to advisors, going to let make a "Pearson prediction come true." The bipartisan loyalty board was scrapped, McCarthy's charges became the chief issue of the campaign, and some of the President's staunchest supporters were defeated.

PALACE GUARD Every member of the White House secretariat knows what the President's peevish and pet aversions are. But up until recently they did little to put a quietus on them. In fact, the man who tried hardest to buck the President on certain ill-favored, Clark Clifford, was the object of an intense and jealous campaign by John Steedman.

The White House staff knew, of course, that anything even remotely critical of his wife or daughter makes the President blinding mad.

Bounty Payments Drop In November

Bounty payments on foxes, coyotes, bobcats and wolves dropped to $13,620 in November; the conservation department reports.

October bounties cost the state $481 for 2,159 foxes, 443 coyotes, 137 bobcats and three wolves.

Gratitude is one of those things that cannot be bought. It must be born with men, or else all the obligations in the world will not create it.
