Our Plans and Intentions

After spending practically entire life in the various branches of printing and of newspaper work have learned one lesson and learned it well—the fewer promises made; the fewer to be broken.

In taking over the management of The Farmington Enterprise therefore, I will heed the lesson, and restrict the pledges.

The paper-your paper, is now under new guidance, if such it may be termed, and it is usually the privilege if not the duty of an eli-tor to make or at least outline the road along which he may in to steer his course and the designy or inspaper.

Briefly then, we will say that it is our aim and intention to give our subscribers and to Farmington a Poostine. Independent a l'oosting. Independent, and a Newsy newpaper. One that you and your family alike, may enjry, and one that at all times will be ready and willing to say a good word for our town and her people. We will make errors-we will try to make friends-and we hope With this as our purpose, we start in our work, hoping our efforts will meet with your approval and co operation. Our residence among you, as yet a short one, has been pleasant, a: be our stav long or short, we will always retain a pleasant rec-

In conclusion I will ask that adgment be witheld until we have tion board had a lazy day of it. trial, and with your co operation and support we outsid and we cordially invite you one and all to give, it an early pull.

Respect ully, J A PRICE.

The district voters are to be con gratulated upon their judgment in concluding to do the thing right and it is hoped that the result will justify their expectations. In the opinion of the Record the bonds should be made payable in such a manner that the big end of the burden will come a few years hence. Let it come as easy as possible for a few years until the increase in the valuation of the taxable property of the district makes it less of a burden on those who are now paying the taxes.

In from five to ten years from now there will, unless all signs fail, be many times the taxable valuation in the village that there vanuation in the village that there is now and the people then living there will get the big end of the benefits. Let them pay the big end of the cost
