ROLLING DOWN THE RIVER

By Bob Kettler

"We'll have to put this under the 'rubbing it in' department, but an assessor 'way up north' bought himself a pale tan and imprinted, sherron, in dark red letters, the county's tax rate for 1951.

Was talking to some fellows the other day, old time mechanics from away back. They got to discussing the rugged laborer, with hot and cold running water and crisp paper towels as compared with the bucket of ice water, a basin and a roller towel of their day. That roller towel, as some of them remember, it must have been given to an institution, it hung there until it became so stiff it disintegrated by the time we made our appearance. Everything was much more sanitary. We simply threw the towel against the wall and when the day came that it stuck there the management provided a new one.

About this time we should make some mention of our product or the boys out front will say, "why didn'tcha mention the Studebaker?" And we'll say, "why should we? The economical, beautiful, powerful car, the '31 Studebaker, sells itself." So they come back with, "oh yeah, then what are we here for?" and they're such nice guys, we hate to tell them it's because there is no fun in going out alone for the morning's cup of coffee. So why not drop around and make them think they're working and you'll give you a motor tune-up. No doubt your car can stand something like that, too, with the winter as tough as it was.

This is the time of year when you can figure yourself a success last year. If your credit is such as to enable you to borrow enough money to pay those 1950 taxes.

Now we never mention prices of our various services, they're as low as we can get them and still give you the finest of materials and competent workmanship. We know, however, that you'll be highly pleased with the results, be it a complete tune-up or a motor tune-up.

Yours,
BOB KETTLER

Exchange Club Hears School Problems

Exchange G. V. Harrison, hampered by a cold-closed throat, told members of the Farmington Exchange Club the problems confronting the school system, and solutions to be found in the proposed building program for the Farmington schools.

Members of the club decided they wanted to hear more about the school program and approved an order of discussion of the problem. O. E. Duncker, Farmington superintendent of schools, appeared at the club as Mr. Harrison's guest.

The Leslie Grundys of Hubbard Avenue celebrated their 17th wedding anniversary Saturday, March 3. The Richard Stevens also had an anniversary that day.

Methodist Choir Gives Concert At Fowlerville

The choir of the Farmington Methodist Church traveled to Fowlerville Sunday to present a concert at the Methodist Church there. The group presented a collection of 13 choral numbers, in addition to several organ selections by Marge Burdick, church organist. The concert was under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Juhnke, Director of Music at the Farmington Church.
