Comes word now of television's biggest and most exciting adventure on the industrial scene. It happened in Farmington last week at the big Kaiser Steel plant which covers 3 square miles of territory. Television went there to cover the steel-making process from beginning to end. And it was a major task. In the first place there was not enough cable to cover the three mile area. So technicians set up little microwave stations all over the plant to connect the cameras with the master control truck. There were four cameras moved about from strategic spot to strategic spot. The telephone company built a special relay station on Mt. Diablo near Pomona, by means of which the picture was gotten into Los Angeles in 2 jumps. From a technical standpoint this has been the most unusual TV show ever to be done. And it points the way to giving us more and more of an inside view of industrial workings. Do you have your television set yet?

It's wise to buy your television set from people who KNOW TV and guarantee reception. That's us. We know the best in Television. And we recommend the 1951 RCA VICTOR MILLION PROOF set for discriminating folks. It's a favorite and when you see it in action you'll know why. We have trained technicians with TV know-how to install the best installation and service at FARMINGTON RADIO-TELEVISION CO., 33304 Grand River, Phone: Farmington 0947.

West Farmington Group Discusses "Inflation"

"Inflation" was discussed by the West Farmington Farm Bureau when it met March 8 at the home of Wendell Green, 27335 Drake Road. Floyd Howard led the discussion at the meeting.

The group also heard a committee's report on a spring dance, to be held in cooperation with the Wall Lake Farm Bureau at Stone Crest Hall on March 31.

Entertainment at the meeting was provided by Paul Button and Enit DeConick, who showed pictures of their trip to Jamaica. Mr. Green also showed photos of his trip to northern Michigan.

Refreshments consisting of a birthday cake celebrating the sixth anniversary of the Farm Bureau were served after the meeting.

Save yourself a lot of time and worry during the winter by providing your livestock with plenty of warm, fresh water, say Michigan State College livestock specialists. Stacking fertilizer in piles that are too high can cause caking and loss of time in the spring.
