Voice of America Aims MSC Project

The voices of 12 Michigan State College foreign students will be heard throughout the world over the "Voice of America" station of the U. S. Department of State.

MSC foreign students were chosen for the broadcasts, because of the uniqueness of the world of the "Voice of America" station of the U. S. Department of State.

The MSC program consists of foreign student visitations to many Michigan communities. The students learn how Americans live in their homes, and Michigan citizens learn more about people from other nations. The "Voice of America" wants the foreign students to tell the world what they have learned through the MSC program.

Castors on heavy furniture will cut into all types of smooth surface floor coverings. Michigan State College home economists say that furniture with pointed legs should be placed in side-bottomed plastic, glass, metal, or rubber "shoes".

WEST POINT PARK: National Guard Family Settled In New Home Near Phoenix, Arizona

Mrs. James Simpson of Mayfield Avenue reports that the Edward Brumgans, who are her son-in-law and daughter, are now comfortably settled with their two small sons, Eddie and Larry, at a trailer camp near Phoenix. The trip west was made without too much incident. Uncle Sam made things easy for them along the way.

Mr. Brumgans belonged to the National Guard group recently ordered to serve at a training base in Arizona.

At Detroit Osteopathic Hospital, a seven pound, six ounce baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dolyard of Parker Avenue on Tuesday, March 12.

Mr. and Mrs. George Cook, Allou Avenue, entertained with a waffle supper last Sunday evening. Relatives from West Point Park were guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin L. Johnson attended a basketball game at Jackson, Michigan, Wednesday evening.

Several of the Cub Scout leaders were visiting the Veterans Memorial Building Thursday. Included were Mrs. Clyde Buckingham, Mrs. Harold McVicar, Mrs. V. Reddy and others.

Mrs. Gerald Stewart, Hubbard Avenue, was calling on her sister, Mrs. Charles Bolyard, in Detroit Osteopathic Hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. Albert Owen, Mayfield Avenue, has been on the sick list two weeks.

The Sandaus, Hubbard Avenue, have been recovering from flu. Mrs. Sandau is still much "under the weather".

William Gamble, who has been quite ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. C. Imonen, was not so well, then took a turn for the better this week. A son from St. Louis recently visited him, and on Thursday he was the recipient of a birthday celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Magner were guests last Sunday evening at a dinner party given by their friends, the Michalewics, in Detroit. Mr. Michaelson, who lately returned from Korea, entertained by showing slides taken in the Far East.

During the early part of the week, David McMillan of Detroit was the guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Magner.

Mrs. Kenneth Allen entertained a few of the young lady's small friends at her home on Parker Avenue last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. E. W. Slange has been suffering with a protracted case of flu.

Freda Ault was indoors with flu the first part of the week.

Miss Lola Barnes of Farmington Road was taken seriously ill last Sunday. She was removed to New Grace Hospital, where an operation for appendicitis was performed.

Friends here hear that Mrs. Marvin Addis, now vacationing in Florida, has been ill again. However, she hopes to be well enough so that she and Mr. Addis may start on the homeward trip to arrive here May 1.

At the Mahew residence on Meridian court, a farewell party was arranged last Saturday for Fredrick Schult, who expects to be in service soon. Young folks from the Livonia Methodist Church were the chief participants.

At her home on Shadyside Avenue, Mrs. Homer Coolman entertained the retiring and new officers of the Livonia Health Guild Thursday, March 15.

At the Thursday night service in the Neighborhood Meeting House, Rev. Gordon Cameron and Mrs. Alexander Young will both speak. A pianist and singers from Detroit will contribute special music. Communion will be held.

U-M PROF REPORTS ON MIGRANT LABOR PROPOSALS OF ILO

Stronger government control over employment conditions of migratory laborers coming into a country was recommended at a recent international conference in Bolivia, according to Professor Horace M. Miner of the University of Michigan, U. S. representative at the meeting.

At the conference the committee on indigenous labor of the International Labor Office also suggested that treaty arrangements be made between countries to deal with migratory workers, Professor Miner reported.

Government control, the committee said, should be exercised over such matters as non-discriminatory wage rates, working conditions, and education for children accompanying the workers. Work contracts should be translated into the language of the migratory workers and should contain clauses providing for the laborers' return to their native country.

Standards should be established for living conditions, the committee resolution stated, and these should be controlled and inspected by the governments concerned.

Professor Miner, who teaches sociology and anthropology at the University, said that the U. S. government had been active in controlling contracts and living conditions of migratory workers during the war but is less involved in this now.

The committee's resolutions also called for extension of social security to agricultural workers. The recommendations also dealt with safety practices in mines and education and public health programs for native peoples.

The resolutions will be incorporated in the action proposals presented by the Governing Body of the ILO to the member governments.

Professor Miner has just returned to Michigan from a year's study of Arabs in Africa. His research was conducted under a Fulbright grant. During January he attended the ILO committee meeting in LaPaz, Bolivia. Eleven countries were represented on the committee.

The American Way

Table tennis is a popular indoor pastime in all parts of Michigan. And after a fast, friendly game or two . . . it's "The American Way" to treat yourself to a cool, sparkling glass of Michigan brewed beer. For beer belongs . . . to pleasant living, to good fellowship, to sensible moderation. And our right to enjoy it, this too, belongs . . . to our own American heritage of personal freedom. Beer Belongs . . . Enjoy It.
