In Thirty years ago I had charge of 100 Bulgar prisoners in a diminutive Serbian village called Dobro Do, which means good valley—but the valley wasn't good, because it the valley wasn't good, because it because it wasn't good, because it wasn't problem to the valley wasn't good, because it because it wasn't good wasn't good to be the problem of t night sat around camptires—the Al-banians, the Buigar prigoners and their Serbian guards discussing war and what caused war.

That was in 1919 and they re-called that in 1912 Serbia and Greece had fought Turkey, then in 1913 Buigaria had fought Serbia and Greece, and in 1914 the World War-started. Thus for six long years the Baltans were plunged in war—war which neither the Serbian guards for their Buigarian prisoners nor the Albanian conscripts wanted. Their hope, they said, was Wood-row Wilson—he was going to pro-claim a new world peace in which there would be elernal peace.

Well, the years have come and there would be eternal peace. Well, the years have come and gone since then. Woodrow Wilson tried and failed, and Dobro Do since then once again was ravished—this time by the Garmans, later by the Italians—and then liberated by the Russians who, at times, acted more liberance or the conquerors than liberators.
