Nurses Invited To Attend Course

Under the sponsorship of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis the Joint Orthopedic Nursing Advisory Service course of Nursing Care For The Poliomyelitis Patient will be given at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac, according to Carl W. Donelson, chairman of the Oakland County Chapter.

A call is being issued to registered nurses in Oakland County to enroll in this course which will be given under the direction of Dorothy Shuman, R.N.

Classes will be conducted by Dr. Charles Neffie, medical director of the Pontiac City Health Department, and physicians of the Polio Committees. Dr. Harold H. Reel, chairman of the Polio Committees of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and Dr. Robert J. Mason, chairman of the medical advisory committee of the Oakland County Chapter, announced at a recent meeting at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Dr. Mason stated: "An Oakland County registered nurse, by enrolling in the J. O. N. A. S. course can contribute greatly to the fight against polio. In view of the past two heaviest polio epidemic years in the history of the United States, we here in Oakland County wish to be prepared to give the best possible care to polio patients."

The course is scheduled to start in July. Classes will be arranged according to the availability of candidates. Nurses can make their contribution by contacting Miss Shuman at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, phone FEderal 4-3511.

Plywood Shelves Spotlight Collections

BY EDNA MILES

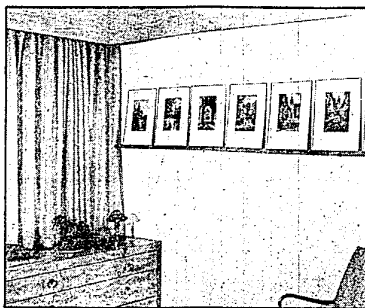

COLLECTIONS are fun! But as a practical problem in household storage they are often headaches. The right place for a collection of photographs, figurines, dolls or old firearms is often hard to come by.

If you've put time, trouble and expense into a collection, you'd like it displayed to advantage, not tucked away in a drawer or crowded onto an inadequate what-not stand. And if you are the job of house-keeping, you'll want the collection in an out-of-the-way place where they'll gather less dust and be safe from the mischievous hands of small children.

A display shelf a bit higher than eye-level offers a practical solution to both these problems. It should be narrow enough to serve as a simple wall fixture, a too-wide one will detract from the prominence of the collection. For stand-up groupings like photographs, the shelf should be grooved to aid in their display.

It's not a good idea to construct your shelf of any scrap lumber you happen to have lying around. In order to enhance and do justice to your collection, try a natural-finish plywood in an attractively-grained wood such as birch.

A shelf of this material is particularly effective when it repeats in grain and finish the woods used in other furnishings of the room.

A collection of prized photographs is displayed to advantage on a narrow shelf of birch plywood which repeats the natural finish of drawers in chest and valance.

Mrs. Erickson Wins Insurance Award

Mrs. M. Helen Erickson of 23060 Lilac, Farmington, a leading member of the New York Life Insurance Company's field force, has been named a winner of the National Quality Award given jointly by the National Association of Life Underwriters and the Life Insurance Agency Management Association. It was stated this week at the New York Life's Home Office in New York City.

The National Quality Award is a recognition given annually to life underwriters "who conduct their business according to the highest standards of ethics and who maintain a high standard of competence by means of continuous study and practice." To qualify for the award, an agent must have demonstrated a high degree of service to policyholders as indicated by the percentage of the life insurance sold by the agent in a two-year period being continued in force.

Beverly June Gillespie, James Beall Exchange Vows

Ivory cathedral tapers lighted the altar of the Farmington Methodist Church, which was decorated with bouquets of white gladioli and pink carnations, for the candlelight doubling ceremony in which Beverly June Gillespie became the bride of James William Beall at 7:30 in the evening of June 23.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Gillespie of Colgate Avenue. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Beall of Northwestern Highway, Birmingham.

Her gown was heavy candlelight satin fashioned on princess lines with yoke and sleeves of chintilly lace and full skirt which swept into a long cathedral train. A tiny bonnet of chintilly lace held her directed fingerling illusion veil. She carried a chintilly lace fan with pheasanthop orchids, centered with a large white orchid and stephanotis. As matron of honor, Mrs. Nancy Martell, cousin of the bride, was gowned in orchid marquisette. Her headress was a copy of the bride's and she carried a large wedding ring, centered with an orchid and yellow carnations outlining the ring.

Mrs. Leah Chudy, cousin of the bride, and Miss Marion Cogswell were bridesmaids, wearing pale green marquisette gowns and small poke headresses studded with rhinestones. They carried wedding rings centered with an orchid and outlined with pink carnations.

Little Lynda Wallenwar, also dressed in green marquisette, was the flower girl. She carried a small basket of flowers, dropping them along the aisle as Beverly came forth on the arm of her father.

Miss Mary Lewis sang "How Do I Love Thee?" and "Because". The best man was Raymond Gillespie, brother of the bride, in the absence of the groom's brother, Robert Beall, who is in the service. The ushers were Dale Gillespie and William Medlock.

The bride's mother wore a powder blue dinner dress, with white accessories and a corsage of carnations and gardenias.

The groom's mother wore a lilac dinner dress with white accessories and a corsage of carnations. A reception for 200 was held immediately after the ceremony at the American Legion Hall in Farmington. The newlyweds spent a few days in Chicago. James is in the Air Force and was on leave.
