

BOARD HEARING ON ROAD PROJECT SET FOR TUESDAY

A public hearing on the establishment of a special assessment district for the purpose of blacktopping Oxford Street will be held at the Farmington Township Office in the Town Hall on Tuesday, July 24.

The meeting is being held for the purpose of hearing any objections to the special assessment district or to the estimates of cost or plan of the project. The meeting is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

Petitions bearing the signatures of owners of property fronting on Oxford Street have been filed with the Board requesting the special assessment district. The cost of the project is to be borne by the affected property owners.

James Ryall Heads Vet. Group In Australia

James J. Ryall, former Farmington resident, has recently been elected president of the American Ex-Servicemen's Association of Queensland, Australia.

A biographical sketch of Ryall was published in the current issue of the A. E. A. publication. Ryall is a graduate of Redford High School in Detroit. He was stationed in Australia during the last war and, after a brief stay in the United States, returned to Australia. He married Elsie Harris in 1949 and the couple now has one daughter, 15 months old.

Davis Re-Elected Head Of Novi School Board

Robert Davis, Ann Arbor contractor and president of the Novi Board of Education, was named to the post of president for another year last Thursday evening when the Novi School Board reorganized.

Frazer Staman, re-elected to the board, was also named to his old post of treasurer. James D. Mitchell was retained as secretary.

Mrs. Henry Watson is the new member of the school board, elected July 9. William MacDermott is the other member of the board.

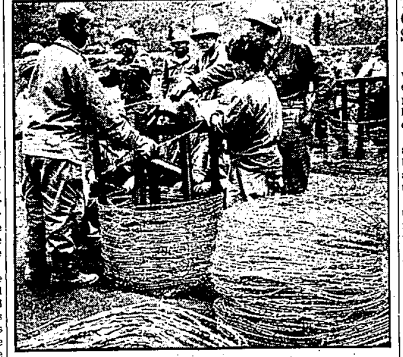

CATHOLIC CHURCH HOLDS SERIES OF LESSON - TALKS

A series of talks on the teachings of the Catholic Church are being given each Tuesday and Thursday evening at 7:45 at Our Lady of Sorrows School. Father Henry T. Hengeshold, assistant pastor of the church, presents the talks.

"To some, the claims of the Catholic Church seem fantastic, but to know what grounds she has in her teachings are very important. Truth is an important guide in our life so if you would like to know what are the real claims of the Catholic Church you may receive them first hand by attending these talks," Fr. Hengeshold says.

Topics include "Who is the Pope," "Is One Religion a God as Another," "Who is the Blessed Virgin Mary," "Why Do Catholics Go to Confession," "Who is Jesus Christ," "Where Do We Get the Bible," "Who is the Teacher of the Bible," "Is Private Interpretation of the Bible Reasonable," "What Is Her Teaching on Divorce," "Will All Catholics Go To Heaven?"

Both Catholics and non-Catholics are being invited to attend the talks. In making the announcement, spokesmen for the church said "There are many stories told about the ancient church, some of which are half-truths, others are entirely opposed to the claims of the Catholic Church. There is a slogan, 'If it is Catholic, ask a Catholic'."

KOREAN 'CONCERTINAS' WELCOME REDS—These Korean civilians clad in Government issue help American soldiers fashion barbed wire "concertinas" which will join the full orchestra of booming Yankee artillery, staccato machine gun fire, and scorching bombs. This rhythmic combo plays fearful melodies for the Communists in Korea without a let up, but the Reds don't seem to appreciate good music.

TIPS GIVEN ON OBSERVATION OF STATE'S WILDLIFE

Vacationists wanting to observe wildlife will find plenty to interest them in Michigan, although they probably will have to leave main highways to find it, conservation department game men report.

Best time for excursions to see animals is early morning or just before dark as most wildlife is more active at these times than during the middle of the day.

On northern lower peninsula and upper peninsula back trails and forests it is possible for sharp eyes to catch sight of a bear, although in spite of their size, these animals are adept at keeping out of sight. Deer are so plentiful they can be seen in number in most parts of the north country. In this section of the state coyotes can sometimes be glimpsed as they hunt for food.

Dams and other signs of blower are plentiful in many northern spots but it is difficult to catch a glimpse of the big rodents themselves as they usually work after dark. The rare otter can be watched from a distance playing along streams and some lakes in the daytime by those interested enough to use the time and caution to discover them.

Snowshoe hares, so called because of their big feet constructed to hold them on top of snow, are now in their summer coats of reddish brown. Porcupines, slow-moving and awkward, give plenty of time for observation and picture-taking when they are sighted in the brush. Black squirrels are among the smaller animals that attract attention in the north woods.

One of the largest areas of nesting geese can be found at Seney Wildlife Refuge in Schoolcraft County. Other waterfowl and birds are plentiful although it may take a period of quiet watching in a woodland area to spot them.

Southern Michigan game areas offer a variety of wildlife but conservation game men warn that vacationists shouldn't expect wild animals and birds to be in a particular location at a definite time like animals in a zoo.

Cottontail rabbits may be an old story to farm and city residents, but city families find it fun to see them on a drive or hike in the country. Peasants can be seen in meadows and farm fields. Deer, although not as common as in the north, can be spotted in many locations in southern Michigan.

Patient watching will often be rewarded with sight of a ruffed grouse, a game bird usually associated only with the north.

"Possums, coons and fox squirrels are among other animals to be seen in the southern part of the state by persons willing to stray from the beaten path.

It would take 1,900,000 boxcars, which would reach the United States five times, to carry the nation's lumber production in one year.

youngsters from each of the four playgrounds next Wednesday. The youngsters will travel through the K-P plant by miniature train and will be served refreshments at the plant. Later they will make a tour of the airport, including viewing the airport activity from the observation platform.

The grounds will also be open as usual. On Thursday, Don, Noble and William Grace playground youngsters will receive swimming instructions at Kent Lake. The bus will leave Bond at 10 a.m. Noble at 10:15, and William Grace at 10:30. Regular playground activities will continue for those not making the trip.

Attendance at the summer program has been "good," according to director Bill Nuse. Nuse said approximately daily attendance has been more than 100 at Farmington, Noble and William Grace and about 40 at Bond.

Scott Shepard, state representative of the National Foundation was the main speaker at the organization meeting held at the Clarenceville High School. Mrs. Ruth Farrahall, state secretary of the Oakland County Chapter and Pierre Delmonette, director of the south-west district, Oakland County Chapter, also spoke at the meeting.

Mr. Louis Gilson presented a film entitled "On Our Own."

Hi Neighbors,

Don't go 'way, cause I'll be right back with some good news for you.

First thing is shortening, everyone uses shortening, so for this week end only, we'll give you a 3 lb. can of Spry or Crisco for only 93c. If there are any of you folks that don't go for these new-fangled shortenings, we have just what you want, at a price you can't afford to pass up. It's our own open kettle rendered lard, and second to none for frying or deep fat cooking. 2 lbs. for 35c, or better yet, a 10 lb. carton for only $1.65.

Now, of course, when you use anything greasy you have to have something to clean up your kitchen. So - for this week end - we are gng to sell you the kind of soap powder or flakes that you like the best for only 27c a box.

Now that you're all cleaned up, we will tell you about some things you'll be needing before too long. One thing is Ascorbic acid. This is the stuff you use to hold the color and flavor when you freeze fruit, most commonly used with peaches. We have a one ounce bottle with full directions on it, and we hope we have enough for everyone.

Now, how about vinegar? If you have a jug we will sell you a gallon for only 38c. and if you don't have a jug it will cost you 49c. However, jug or no jug, get your vinegar early.

I don't know what the score is today, but we have 92 score butter that we are selling this week end only at 70c a lb. Regardless of the score, this should put you out in front. We also have a fresh batch of Conroy's hickory-smoked bacon in the smoke house that should be cooled off for the week end. Same old price, 69c a lb. sliced with the rind off, or 65c a lb in the piece. Come one—come all.

Don't forget your charcoal for that picnic.
