Meadowbrook Murmurs

By Mrs. Dean Eckert
PHONE 0337-M

Second anniversary special, folks! Two years ago this week we sat down on a very hot summer's day to start telling you about all your neighbors in Meadowbrook Heights subdivision. Not that we knew very much about them ourselves, yet. We had lived here almost two years and knew hardly a soul. It didn't take very long to find out that everyone else was in the same boat, however, as we walked from door to door getting acquainted.

Well, we've sat down at the typewriter almost 100 times since, and sincerely hope you "Meadowbrookites" are 100 per cent better acquainted with your neighborhood, its chuckles and its heartaches. It's a nice feeling when the people you see on your street know you and speak. Even though the yards are wide between houses, hearts can be wide open, too, and casual friendships cherished.

Tuning in on the start of our third year of "Murmurs" are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peel, who have just subscribed to the Enterprise. Their giant-sized trailer is at the corner of 1st and Roosevelt Streets where Mr. Peel is starting to build their new home. A ranch-type, the house will also boast a small apartment.

With their 14 year old daughter Sharon, they moved here from Onaway, Michigan, where they spent the past year. They sold their home in Centerline last year, after 10 years residence there, but home town to the Peels is really Allenton, Michigan, near Rogers City. Mr. Peel is superintendent of maintenance of the Parsons Corporation, and he's a grandfather, too. Ten little darlings call him "Grandpa" and all live near enough for frequent visits. Writing son Alger keeps Mrs. Peel busy, and he's now on his way to Germany with the Third Armored Division.

Getting excited about curtains and things is Mrs. Don Schlack who will be leaving 20895 Roosevelt Street by early fall. Their new home is being built at 19940 Salem, Detroit, and it will be like a new world for Margaret (Hedley) Schlack, since this neighborhood has always been "home".

Plenty glad to feast his eyes on homefolks last week was Seamus Murray Hamilton who is contrasting in the hospital at Great Lakes, where he was rushed for an emergency appendectomy on July 5. His grandmother, Mrs. Dan Peet of 21129 Roosevelt Street, accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Hamilton and her granddaughters Karen and Patsy to Illinois for a three-day visit with Murray last week. Said Mrs. Elliott, "The government is won't say it, you don't realize how well they do until you have a boy in the service." Naval authorities even found suitable headquarters for the travelers in Waukegan.

Traveling here from many directions last week were relatives at the Driver - Bensteel reunion which more than filled up the two picnic tables at the home of Harold and Irene Bensteel of 20320 Gilman Street. Daughters Carol and Virginia were busy gals helping Mom to feed the 24 relatives at luncheon. From Youngstown, Ohio, came Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Lehman and son Allen; from Toledo, Mr. and Mrs. Don Driver; and Mr. and Mrs. William Driver, with their son Sandra and Andrew. From Hillsville, Ohio, came the Kenneth Driver family, and Earl A. Mann arrived from Edgerton, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor came from Columbus. Representing Michigan were the Carl Drivers from Adrian, the Virgil Drivers from Garden City, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Marosi with David and Carl from Allen Park. Mrs. Lena Grenz came from Drayton Plains and making a shorter trip were Mrs. Leona Hatcher and son Robert from Detroit. Also enjoying the scene were the California relatives who are spending several weeks here. They are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bensteel from Encino, California, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stewart, Ardron and Gloria from Redondo Beach.

Another houseful packed the T. J. LaPollette residence Saturday evening, July 14. Daughter Beverly had reached voting age and she felt like celebrating. As soon as the house was back in one piece the next day, the LaPollettes left to visit relatives in Mt. Heel, Ohio, and Warsaw, Indiana. All but Beverly went and they have returned just in time to see her off this week end to a resort at Sagatauk, Michigan, where she is going with the Detroit News Hikers.

It's been a busy month for Mrs. Russell Ellis, who has just returned from a week's "vacation" at their farm in Ontario. Hubby helped bring in the wheat and she relaxed over a hot stove and a dishpan when she wasn't keeping her three youngsters out of mischief. Back home, she showed the painters out just in time to welcome relatives from Petersburg, Ontario, Mr. and Mrs. Don Weir with daughter Patsy and Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Ellis. And last night she was hostess for a cosmetic demonstration.

Viewing the Jack Easton's usually bountiful garden last week were their relatives from Port Huron and Carsonville, Mr. and Mrs. George Carr and Mrs. G. Thomas. After two years of working hard at it, the Eastons have their garden soil in wonderful shape. Proving the fact that there's been plenty of digging, the Eastons have almost enough parts collected to put back together an ancient Model T.
