Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

longer secret. This amazing device explodes artillery shells just as they hit the target, giving them a devastating effect. Previously shells exploded as they burst themselves in the ground, which detracted from their effect.

The proximity fuse was used during the end of World War II, but it has been a major mystery why MacArthur failed to use it in the early stages of the Korean war. If he had done so, the back of the Communist offensive might have been broken early with countless saving of American lives.

To solve the mystery of MacArthur's failure to use the proximity fuse, the Pentagon finally sent ordnance expert Col. C. H. Roberts to Korea. He came back with the explanation that MacArthur had failed to train artillery crews in the use of the fuse.

Under Gen. Ridgway, however, the proximity fuse has become the key to American firepower, and the chief reason the Chinese have suffered such devastating casualties. Undoubtedly also it is one reason why Malik has thrown out overtures for peace.

Note—Illustrative of the Army's present policy of admitting and correcting mistakes, Maj. Gen. Floyd Parks' press branch in Washington was willing to make public the facts regarding the proximity fuse error. However, the Far Eastern Command overruled Parks.

PEACE OVERTURES

It is no longer a secret that U.S. delegates to the United Nations have been working with other U.N. members for some time on a Korean truce proposal and that Comrade Malik jumped the gun on them. The most important issue in the discussions, however, has not leaked out—namely, the differences of opinion regarding two highly controversial points: 1. Disposition of Formosa; and 2. Seating the Chinese Reds in the United Nations.

The U. S. proposal, discussed with 15 other U. N. nations by U. S. Ambassador Ernest Gross, was to postpone any consideration of Formosa or seating the Reds until after all other conditions had been ironed out. The State Department was completely adamant on this, and maintained that we would not even discuss these two points until: 1. the whole Korean question had been settled, and 2. All troops had been withdrawn.

This was the chief stumbling block between ourselves and some other U. N. members.

The above terms were somewhat similar to those which President Truman sent to General MacArthur for his personal just before Baster and which MacArthur subsequently issued as his own. MacArthur's jumping the gun was one fact which contributed to his ouster. The President, however, is in no position to oust Comrade Malik for likewise jumping the gun when he heard that the U. N. and the U. S. A. were working on a truce.

Spartan ROTC Unit Receives Top Honor

Top rating has again been awarded the Michigan State College's Reserve Officer Training Corps following the annual May inspection by army and air force teams from Fifth Army headquarters in Chicago, Illinois.

The college has been notified that it received "satisfactory" ratings in administration and training and a similar grade in overall judging. The U. S. Army has only two ratings — satisfactory and unsatisfactory.

David Sullivan Receives Commission In Army

David H. Sullivan of Farmington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sullivan, 135 E. Gore Street, Orlando, Florida, was commissioned July 21 at the graduation exercises held in Fort Riley's Post Theater for Army Officers' Candidate Class No. 31 of the Army General School.

The principal address was delivered by Colonel Harry P. Scherer, Deputy Chief of the Special Services Division, the Adjutant General's Office in Washington, D. C.

Donald Kobman Gets Lieutenant's Bars

Donald M. Kobman from Michigan State College was one of 73 ROTC cadets who were commissioned second lieutenants in the Organized Reserve Corps at a regimental review, Thursday, July 26, at Camp McCoy, Wisconsin.

Of this number, 23 have volunteered for immediate extended active duty and will report to their assignments after short leaves. Others will probably be called into service later in the summer.

Frenchman Questions Walleye Tagging

Reminiscence and curiosity got the best of Monsieur Ernest Friedman, 7 Rue Des Italiens, Paris, France, in the upper peninsula's Gogebic Lake in May this year, he returned to France, in June, and recently queried the conservation department on the walleye with the tag No. 2329. The department is advising him that the fish he caught was tagged and released at 15.1 inch size on May 11, 1947.
