In contact with them. It was because Stalin mortally feared such contact that he erected the iron curtain and it is to this Achilles' heel that a group of private individuals and organizations, has now launched messages of hope, friendship and encouragement by balloon into Czechoslovakia.

The people who had the courage to sponsor this project are the American Crusade for Freedom organization, the Inter-American Federation of Free Trade Unions which has been fighting Communism throughout Latin America, veterans or prisoners of war chiefly from Belgium, France, Holland and Italy, the General Federation of Women's Clubs with 5,500,000 members in 32 countries plus another five and a half million in the United States, the A.F.L., Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, the C. I. O., Canadian Congress of Labor, and the International Federation of Free Journalists, comprising about 1,000 news-men exiled from Soviet countries.

The chief dynamo in this intricate operation has been Abbott Washburn, loaned by General Mills of Minneapolis to the committee for free Europe which has done such an important job of bringing broadcasts into Czechoslovakia and placed the freedom bell in Berlin last year. Harold Stassen, who heads the Crusade for Freedom, has also helped to mastermind the operation.

It is considered especially significant in Europe that these balloons are being aimed at Czechoslovakia after the imprisonment of William Oatis and that among their sponsors are the Federation of Free Journalists. Hitherto the United States' official policy has leaned toward paying virtual ransom money when its citizens have been seized by the communists. However, it is now realized that the more you pay out in concessions to the Soviet the more Moscow demands in ransom money and the more it is inclined to maltreat American citizens and to increase the blackmail demand. America's cracking down on Czech trade is an indication of this new stiffening of policy by the U. S. and the current balloon operation supplements it. This may help to show the communists that instead of taking the abuse of our citizens lying down, we intend to retaliate.

Survey Shows Pheasant Population Increase

A higher pheasant breeding population than last year's is indicated by a 20 per cent increase of ringneck roosters counted in the conservation department's crowing cock survey.

Lanewee county this year, as in 1950, topped the list of individual counties with highest number of growing cocks heard during the survey.

DAM TO CREATE MARSH LANDS FOR WILDLIFE HABITAT

More homes for ducks and muskrats will be created with completion of a 170-acre flooding project on Tomahawk creek in southwest Presque Isle County, the conservation department announces.

Bids for construction of a dam will be opened September 19.

The project is the 17th of the kind to receive federal approval since the start of the department's waterfowl habitat program in early 1949. Three-quarters of the cost is supplied from Pittman-Robertson funds which represent a federal excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition.

With completion of the new project, a total of 4,544 acres of marsh will be created, and the department has completed plans for an additional ten projects, with another 17 in preliminary stages.

Similar projects on the Net River in Baraga County and near Grass Lake in Benzie County are nearing completion.

Bowmen To Shoot Only Bucks In Nine Counties

To clear up a misunderstanding of sportsmen in some areas, the conservation department emphasizes that bow and arrow deer hunters next fall may shoot only bucks in nine counties and parts of Bay and Huron.

These nine are Keweenaw, Dickinson, Houghton, Nomininee, Emmet, Chibougamau, Ontonagon, Chippewa except Drummond Island.
